BIG PRICES SHOCK THE COMMITTEE

Congressmen Surprised at Cost of Site for the New Postoffice.

THE LIMIT IS $1,000,000

All That Pittsburgh Can Expect at This Session of the National Legislature.

MORE MONEY IN THE FUTURE

The committee of congressmen that came from Washington early on Saturday morning to inquire into the needs of a new and larger postoffice for Pittsburgh, departed last night between 9 and 10 o'clock without having inspected one of the eight or more sites proposed for a federal building.

The visiting statesmen received and enjoyed the entertainment proffered by the city and left stating, in the words of their chairman, that it would not have more than $15,000,000 to distribute over the entire country for public buildings, and it was uncertain what portion of that amount Pittsburgh would get.

"We are amazed at the property valuations in Pittsburgh," said Chairman Richard Bartholdt.

This is Not St. Louis.

"In my city of St. Louis we got a fine postoffice site near the union station for $300,000 several years ago, and we find that a similar site in Pittsburgh could not be bought today for less than $1,000,000. The total cost of the new postoffice in St. Louis will be about $1,100,000, including both the grounds and the building, but that amount would not more than provide a site in Pittsburgh.

"I estimate that the buildings and grounds committee of congress will not have more than $15,000,000 to disburse this year, and that amount is to be divided among all the states of the Union. That would give about $300,000 to each state, but Pennsylvania is entitled to about $750,000 by reason of its large population. Our sub-committee has already recommended appropriations for this state of about $2,000,000, so you know about what we can do for Pittsburgh. Our committee has not had an appropriation for public buildings and grounds for several years, but we hope to have one this year."

Million Dollars to Begin With.

Chairman Bartholdt stated to representatives of the Pittsburgh newspapers on Saturday, on the eve of the individual plants of the city before sites had been considered, that this city could not reasonably expect to receive more than $1,000,000 as a beginning for the postoffice project. That statement was made before the values of property in the downtown district has been investigated. When an investigation was made the Washington statesmen were naturally surprised. Chairman Bartholdt found that property which he thought could be secured at $500,000 as an outside figure could not be purchased for less than double that amount and yesterday he was ready to revise his estimates.

Mr. Bartholdt was not, however, prepared to state that there was any hope of Pittsburgh receiving a larger appropriation from the federal government this year, and gave the impression that if this city received sufficient money to purchase a site alone it would be fortunate.

Committee Is Convinced.

It was the plan of Congressman James Francis Burke to have the congressional committee inspect the sites proposed for the new postoffice yesterday afternoon, but Chairman Bartholdt and the members of his committee stated it would be time wasted to either consider or discuss sites, as the committee was convinced that Pittsburgh badly needed a new postoffice, and the only question for it to determine was the amount the committee could give Pittsburgh, with almost every state in the Union and every city making a demand upon it for public improvements.

Congressman Burke, the author of the new postoffice project, seemed to be satisfied that the congressional committee had been won over to the idea that at least $1,000,000 or more was needed to furnish a site for the new postoffice and that that sum would be forthcoming when the committee convened at Washington and prepared its bill. The local congressmen believe that with money for the site assured, the necessary balance for the building will come in course of time.

Plans Already Prepared.

Mr. Burke said that James Knox Taylor, supervising architect of the treasury department, has recommended a postoffice building for Pittsburgh, within the past month, to cost $950,000. He said the government architect's recommendations carried with them plans for a one-story building and basement of suitable material to cover 55,000 square feet. He said the architect had expressed strong partiality for the Liberty and Penn avenue site, extending from Twelfth street toward Eleventh street.

"I myself favor," said Congressman Burke, "the site at Seventh avenue and Smithfield street, running back to Oak alley, or, better still, the site bounded by Fifth avenue, Sixth avenue, Wylie avenue and Grant street. The latter site would cost not less than $2,000,000. It would be about equally distant from the Union, Baltimore & Ohio and the Wabash stations. Grant street, which is a direct line to the Baltimore & Ohio and the Union stations, would be comparatively free from vehicle traffic, giving almost an open way for the transportation of mail wagons to and from the trains.

Congress May Issue Bonds.

"The matter of funds to provide a site and building should not stand in the way. There is a strong feeling in congress for the issuance of bonds to carry on the projects that are contemplated in the line of public buildings and river and harbor improvements. The nation

FIRST WEDDING BEHIND PRISON WALLS TAKES PLACE THIS WEEK

Maiden from Cambria County Will Come to the Western Penitentiary to Wed Her Convict Lover, Serving Three Years.

A ceremony without precedent in the annals of the Western penitentiary will take place at that institution some day this week. The prison authorities are preparing to give welcome to a bride and to participate at a wedding within the grim, gray walls. No wedding bells will ring, nor will the strains of Lohengrin make music for the ears of favored guests. It is scarcely likely there will be wedding presents, and immediately after the marital knot has been tied man and wife will separate.

In the parlance of society writings the "contracting parties" will be Miss Elizabeth Salata and Joseph Zgone. Both are Slavish. The latter was employed in the coal mines of Cambria county and several weeks ago was sent to Riverside for three years for a felony committed near Johnstown. The young woman lives at Ounalinda, and the two were sweethearts.

Shortly after Zgone was taken to prison District Attorney Leech of Cambria county became interested in the love affair of the sad maiden, and opened a correspondence with Deputy Warden J. Harry Corbett at the penitentiary. It was suggested to Corbett that he permit the two to be married in the prison. Nothing of the kind was ever done before, but Col. Corbett could see no reason why such an event should not be solemnized at Zgone's present place of residence. So he informed District Attorney Leech of his decision, and the latter said he would make all necessary plans for the girl.

On Saturday Col. Corbett wrote to Mr. Leech, telling him that Chaplain Milligen of the Western penitentiary would perform the ceremony unless the bride and groom were members of the Roman church, in which event he suggested that a priest be brought to the prison. The exact date has not been settled upon.

SLIPS IN LAKE

Waters Undermine Rocky Cliff and Homes of 1,000 Disappear.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ROME, March 4.—The village of Tavertria, on the perpendicular cliffs above lake Iseo, in the province of Brescia, was almost entirely destroyed this morning by the rocks suddenly giving way, apparently because the lake had eaten into the base of the cliffs.

The disaster was preceded by a loud roaring sound, which alarmed the 1,000 inhabitants in time to make their escape. One fisherman was killed.

About 200 feet of rock and the houses on it were swallowed up by the lake.

WOULD DIE FOR RUSSIA.

Lieut. Schmidt Who Would Buy Country's Freedom With His Life, Is Pardoned by Czar.

ODESSA, March 4.—It is announced from St. Petersburg that Emperor Nicholas has pardoned ex-Lieut. Schmidt, who commanded the Russian cruiser Otchakoff during the mutiny at Sebastopol and who was recently sentenced to death by a court-martial. Addressing the court before sentence was passed on him, Lieut. Schmidt said: "I will believe that my pillory will be the frontier post separating old slavish Russia from new free Russia. If I could buy Russian freedom with the most terrible death, I would die smiling."

ST. PETERSBURG, March 4.—During a meeting today of the Father Gapon organization, which was investigating the scandal involving charges of accepting money from the government, an accused member dramatically committed suicide.

HURRY IS SUICIDE.

Dr. Parkhurst Says That People Who Fuss Are Uncorraled Maniacs Without an Excuse.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(Special.)—In his sermon in the Madison Square Presbyterian church today, the Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst referred to the tendency of persons toward hurrying at everything.

"Hurry is a species of infidelity," said he. "There is a species of moral lunacy abroad and persons who think they are intense, but are really hysterical, are burning themselves up. Killing oneself by inches by such a process is just as much suicide as it is to draw a razor through the jugular vein. The cyclonic hysteria of the times is fatal to a proper appreciation of the finer things in life."

VICIOUS CROW FIGHT.

Sunday Visitors to Central Park Witness Duel to Death Between Two Feathered Rivals.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(Special.)—A battle to a finish between two crows near the obelisk in Central park took place this afternoon. The crows pegged and tore at each other with their powerful beaks and finally one delivered a vicious thrust to the other's eye. The stab apparently reached the brain, for the blinded bird turned its feet skyward.

The victorious crow, which had not come out of the fight unscathed, fluttered around its dead opponent for about a minute, cawing loudly all the while, then flew away.

DIES OF SPOTTED FEVER.

Seaman at Newport Succumbs—Erie Man Very Sick With the Same Disease.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 4.—(Special.)—Charles Friend, a seaman apprentice, ill with spotted fever for three months, died at the naval training station this evening. He was the eighth victim of the epidemic that appeared in November. His body will be taken to Illinois.

Seaman Apprentice F. Schanble of Erie, Pa., who was stricken with spotted fever, or spinal meningitis, yesterday was much worse tonight.

SWEET ALICE PUNCH A MOST SEDUCTIVE DRINK

PALM BEACH, FLA., March 4.—(Special.)—The new Sweet Alice lime punch, named after Mrs. Longworth, has led to considerable romance here. It is said to take a very brave man to drink more than one with his sweetheart, because he is almost certain to propose. Pretty young women are accused of trying to encourage the taste for the "Sweet Alice."

Earthquake Felt in Maine.

PORTLAND, ME., March 4.—A distinct earthquake was felt in this city today, in several parts of the city the shock was accompanied by rumbling, which lasted several seconds.

DIES AT POST

Rock Comes Bounding Down Hillside Into Engine Cab and Kills Engineer.

As John French, engineer of a work train on the Union railroad, was looking out of his cab near Duquesne yesterday morning, he saw a rock, loosened by the thaw, bounding down the steep hillside. It was impossible to gauge the speed of the stone so as to judge whether to put on the brakes or turn on more steam to get past the path of the rock, so French let fate have her own way.

The rock fell into the cab, striking French on the head. He was removed to Mercy hospital and died last night, his skull having been fractured. French was 35 years old and married.

RUNAWAY BLAMES LUFF.

O'Malley Claims Pittsburgh Boys Went East Because Youth Told Them Stories.

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—(Special.)—William Luff, another of the seven runaway boys from Pittsburgh, who came here locked in a freight car, was arrested today and placed in the house of detention, where he will be company for his chum, Joseph O'Malley, who was caught yesterday.

O'Malley was glad to see his fellow adventurer and says he is satisfied now to stay at the detention room for an unlimited time. But he won't, for his mother today forwarded to the police his car fare and he will start for home tomorrow.

The O'Malley boy ran away from home three weeks ago, he admitted today, because William Luff spun a lot of yarns of the joy of life here, and yesterday's trip resulted. The five other boys who were in the Pittsburgh delegation are still at liberty.

'WARE OF THE WOMEN.

Horrid Grand Jury in Kentucky Says Those Who Play Euchre Are Common Gamblers.

CYNTHIANA, KY., March 4.—(Special.)—The pink tea where society plays progressive euchre and gives prizes has the same degrading influence as the gambling house where roulette and poker are the attractions. This is the report made by the grand jury to the judge of the Harrison circuit court. It matters very little, say the jurymen, whether the prize for winning be a silver dollar or a silver thimble.

The inquisitors demand that investigation be made of the progressive euchre party and all offenders be indicted under the anti-gambling law. The report says: "Progressive euchre parties are made alluring with prizes, refreshments and the knowing that the local papers will print the names of the guests and the winners. All are common gamblers and deserve to be fined."

GOV. HOGG'S LAST WISH.

Wants Pecan Tree at Head of His Grave and Walnut at Foot—To Benefit State.

AUSTIN, TEX., March 4.—The body of former Gov. Hogg arrived this afternoon from Houston, accompanied by his children, a delegation from the Houston Bar association and union labor organizations. Thousands met the party at the station and acted as an honorary escort to the state house, where the body will lie until tomorrow. The governor, on the eve of his death, talked of the monument he wished.

"I want no monument of stone," he said, "but let my children plant at the head of my grave a pecan tree and at the foot of my grave a walnut tree, and when these trees shall bear, let the pecans and the walnuts be given out among the plain people of Texas, so that they may plant them, and make Texas a land of trees."

ALL LOOK ALIKE TO HIM.

Man Confesses to Robbing Houses at Random to Satisfy Passion for Pool.

SCRANTON, PA., March 4.—Edward Griffiths, aged 24, a chauffeur and member of a good family, was arrested here last night on suspicion of being the man who, since December 1, ransacked 15 residences. Today he confessed to eight of the robberies. He said he might have been guilty of the other depredations, but he was not sure, as the houses he robbed were selected at random. One of the places he admitted burglarizing was the home of County Detective W. A. Phillips.

He was a pool fiend, he said and stole that he might raise money to indulge his passion for the game.

EXECUTIVE TO SELECT SOLDIERS

Army Officers to Be the Heads of Two City Departments.

ALARMS JOB HUNTERS

Guthrie Considering the Advisability of Emulating Mayors Weaver and McClellan.

WOULD BLOCK POLITICIANS

Army officers may be placed at the heads of the departments of public works and safety by Mayor-elect Guthrie. In doing this he will be following a precedent established by Mayors Weaver of Philadelphia and McClellan of New York. While the plan would probably be productive of better government, it would cause consternation among the politicians who put Guthrie in office.

While the mayor-elect has made strong statements about conducting a non-partisan administration and enforcing the merit system, the Democrats would rather see him use an ax. It is jobs they want and expect. William J. Brennen and James A. Clark for the Democrats, and James W. Clark for the Citizens, are expected to guide the hand of the executive to the soft spots in the necks of the payrollers. Incompetence is a broad word as interpreted by these three professional politicians. They expect to be able to show Guthrie where the ax can fall for the "good of the service" and the betterment of the Democratic machine.

With army officers, who care nothing about the building of political machines, this trio will find their task more difficult of accomplishment. It is known that before Guthrie went to Atlantic City he was considering the advisability of placing the department of public safety under the control of an army officer. Now the word comes that he has the same thought about the department of public works. Since his going to the seashore he has witnessed the appointment of Maj. Caselus Gillette of the engineer corps of the United States army to be chief of the Philadelphia filtration bureau. Pittsburgh is building a $7,000,000 filtration plant and other big engineering problems will have to be solved after the creation of a greater city.

With army men to manage these two big departments, it would be easier for Mayor-elect Guthrie to ward off the politician. By allowing them to organize their forces to a proper working basis, the executive would be able to say to the job hunter that he is not interfering with his department chiefs.

SLEPT SEVEN DAYS.

Worn Out by Years of Overwork Young New Yorker Slumbered for Whole Week.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(Special.)—After seven days of slumber Walter Hauck of 310 West One Hundred and Sixteenth street, is awake. His sleep seemed natural and he could be awakened to take such nourishment as was necessary, but his mother and other members of the family suspect he was under the influence of unconscious self-hypnosis. Hauck is sixteen years old, a musician and a bookkeeper in a broker's office. For several days he has been overtaxing his mental and nervous resources by long hours.

He attended a moving picture show on February 23 and became intensely interested in the fluttering panorama on the stage. Whether it was the effect of the incessant vibration of the light on his nerves or the incessant strain of work that put him to sleep members of his family do not know.

FORTUNE FOR ENGINEER.

Publication of Story of Injury Is Seen by London Lawyer, Who Was Hunting Claimant.

WILKES-BARRE, March 4.—(Special.)—John Spires, an engineer on the Lehigh Valley Black Diamond express, living at Sayre, has received news of a legacy of $25,000 in a novel manner. At a Fourth of July celegration 26 years ago, a nail was blown into his neck. The wound healed and he did not know the nail was there until a few months ago, when a sharp pain in his neck caused him to consult Dr. Ott, who discovered the nail and removed it.

The story was published broadcast and was seen in a London paper by a London lawyer, who had been searching for Spires for two years. The lawyer wrote to the engineer, who established his identity, and has just been informed that a legacy of $25,000 left him two years ago by an aunt in England awaits his orders.

WANTED TO BE NICE.

Boy Draws Prize Piece of Cake at Wedding and Swallows Gold Band.

COLUMBUS, O., March 4.—(Special.)—At the wedding supper of William Steubenaugh and Cordelia Stone Friday night, one guest got the piece of bride's cake containing the thimble, and another the shilling, but no one produced the bride's ring. The mystery was solved when Charles Heppler, a 12-year-old half-brother of the bridegroom, announced that he had swallowed it.

"I thought it was a hard piece of dough," he said. "I did not want to take it out of my mouth at the table, so I swallowed it. I know it was the ring, because it was of that shape."

Consumptive Trooper Kills Himself.

BURLINGTON, VT., March 4.—(Special.)—J. H. Lord, a private in Troop H at Fort Ethan Allen, blew his head off today because a companion taunted him with the fact that he had consumption.

JAMES I. BUCHANAN.

He and other Pittsburgh capitalists are interested in big power project for the Mississippi river.

ADRIFT ON ICE

Eight Hundred Finnish Fishermen Driven Into Baltic Sea by Split in Field.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HELSINGFORS, FINLAND, March 4.—It is feared that eight hundred fishermen with their families, who are afloat on the ice in the gulf of Finland, are doomed to perish. A fortnight ago about 1,000 persons who had with them their horses were fishing off the east land, when the ice parted and was driven by a storm into the Baltic sea.

Later the ice split, the wind changed to the east, and yesterday a block on which were 200 persons came ashore at Frederickshamn.

The fate of the others is unknown.

MERIDIAN HAS DAY OF STORM FUNERALS

Work of Cleaning Up Debris from the Cyclone Progresses Rapidly With Milliamen on Guard.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MERIDIAN, MISS., March 4.—Hundreds of men, attacking Meridian's storm-swept and debris-strewn streets, are bringing order to the dismantled city. The Sunday following the disastrous tornado was a day of funerals. The death list remains at 19, and the loss is still figured at $1,000,000, with little insurance. A company of the national guard is spread over the devastated quarter and absence of vandalism and ghoulish acts is reported.

Little if any damage is reported from the country. Claude Williams, an employe of the Meyer-Meville Company, thought to have committed suicide after being imprisoned in the collapse of a building, is now believed to have died naturally. The body, lying near a display case, gives the impression that his throat was punctured on the jagged glass.

TWAIN NOT SO FUNNY.

Thousands Rush to Hear Him Speak and Police Have Riot Trying to Keep Order.

NEW YORK, March 4.—(Special.)—To check the rush of at least ten thousand persons anxious to hear Mark Twain's address at the Majestic theater this afternoon, police clubs were freely used, mounted policemen overrode men and women, windows were smashed and for nearly a half hour a miniature riot required the energies of thirty policemen.

Men were left with ripped overcoats, women with disheveled clothing, policemen with torn uniforms and both sides declaring that the fault lay with the other. It was said that complaint will be made to Commissioner Bingham. The meetings are under the auspices of the West Side branch of the Y. M. C. A. and admission is free.

RIOTERS ARE MERE BOYS.

Evidence Shows Springfield's Mobs Comprise the Youth of the Town—Evidence Against Three Hundred.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 4.—The last scene of the race riot the past week will be enacted tomorrow morning, when the nine companies of militia on duty here will return home. The estimated cost to the county of the militia alone will be $10,000.

The city has been quiet all today and tonight. The body of the dead brakeman, M. M. Davis, was taken to the home of his parents in Columbus today.

It was said tonight that evidence had been secured against about 300 persons, many of whom are mere boys. The investigation shows that the mobs were made up almost wholly of young men from 18 to 21 years of age.

LONGWORTHS AT HOME.

President's Daughter and Her Husband Return to Washington After Wedding Trip to Cuba.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth returned to Washington today from Cuba, where they journeyed after their wedding.

They were met at the train by Mr Longworth's private secretary and drove immediately to Mr. Longworth's residence on Eighteenth street, where they have taken up their home. Mr. Longworth will immediately resume his legislative duties.

TO HARNESS BIG RIVER FOR POWER

Local Capitalists in Vast Project at Otsego, Minn.

ENGINEERS AT WORK

Mississippi to Supply Motive for Electricity for Minneapolis and St. Paul.

MILLIONS ARE TO BE SPENT

James I. Buchanan, president of the Pittsburgh Trust Company, and a number of local capitalists are considering the stupendous project of damming the Mississippi river at Otsego, Wright county, Minnesota, 30 miles northwest of Minneapolis, and create electrical power by the river fall for distribution to Minneapolis and eventually to St. Paul. A corps of engineers is now estimating the cost of creating and transmitting the water power.

Last week Mr. Buchanan and a party of Pittsburghers visited Otsego and Minneapolis and made a preliminary investigation. A syndicate of New York capitalists is also interested in the project, which will involve an expenditure of not less than $10,000,000.

Pittsburgh capitalists believe the plan is feasible, providing the Mississippi river can be saddled at a figure that will be commercially profitable. The initial expenditure is still in doubt, and for this reason a corps of engineers is estimating the cost of damming the river and erecting an immense power station and power transmition stations.

The promoters of the enterprise, Minneapolis men, have secured a special act of congress to permit them dam the Mississippi, and are in possession of the necessary charters and state rights. They also possess an option on large acreage on both sides of the river at Otsego. The scheme is much like the one at Niagara Falls, differing, however, in the fact that the falls in themselves afforded the power, while the flow of the Mississippi varies so that it will be necessary to construct a great dam across the river at Otsego to create a uniform fall in the river and thereby a uniform force to create the desired power. If $10,000,000 will now be the project through. It is believed local capitalists will take hold of the venture, but as rough estimates run anywhere from $5,000,000 to $20,000,000, the whole matter is now dependent upon the report of the engineers.

If the project is undertaken, the power wrested from the river will be applied for traction power, lighting and possibly heating in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and will be offered for sale to operate manufacturing plants of all kinds. The successful damming of the Mississippi for power-creating purposes will be the precedent that will lead to the establishment of similar projects all along the stream, and if the initial project proves a success, it will revolutionize the operating process of all communities within reach of its waters.

HANGING IN COURT ROOM.

Kentucky Judge Orders Execution There, the Scaffold Being Placed Over His Bench.

EVANSVILLE, IND., March 4.—(Special.)—Garth Tompkins, a murderer, will be executed in the circuit court room at Madisonville, Ky. It had been arranged to hang him on a vacant lot near the court house, but the people of the town protested. The judge then decided to have the execution take place on the inside of the court room.

The scaffold will be built over the judge's stand. This will probably be the first case on record where a legal execution has taken place on the inside of a court room. Tompkins killed a man who married his former wife.

BANKER IS ARRESTED.

Story of Having Been Robbed Not Believed by Creditor, Who Charges Him With Theft.

MILLVILLE, N. J., March 4.—(Special.)—Frederick Roedel, the Millville banker who claims to have been attacked in his stable, gagged and forced to open his safe by two masked men who robbed him of $3,400 early Monday morning last, was arrested late last night on a charge of embezzlement.

The charge was preferred by Lemuel M. Hess, from whom Roedel purchased the valuable brick plant which was destroyed by fire on December 20. Hess, it is said, discovered the money of which Roedel claims the robbers relieved him deposited in a Philadelphia bank.

PEARL HAS LONG WAIT.

Girl Casts Bottle Containing Note Into Ohio River and It Is Found After Ten Years.

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 4.—(Special.)—Harry Dailey fished a bottle containing a note out of the Ohio river, where it has evidently lain ten years. The bottle was found in an eddy near the Upper Ferry, half hidden in sand, and only five miles from the point where it had been tossed into the water. The note reads:

January 26, 1896.

CONGRESS FIGHT IS TAKING FORM

Democrats Promise Hard Battle for Control of the Legislative Machinery.

SOME GAINS LOOKED FOR

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—When the people of Pennsylvania realize that the next congress will probably be charged with the task of revising the tariff, the issue closest to that state, it is quite probable that they will return a delegation to the house in the same proportion as the present delegation, one Democrat and 31 Republicans. This is a Republican gain of two over the preceding congress.

But the Democrats propose to use every effort to get back the two members they lost and gain a few besides. In fact, this aggressive movement is to be made all over the country, with the hope of electing a Democratic congress.

All of the Allegheny county members, Representatives Dalzell, Burke, Barchfeld and Graham, are candidates for re-election with no announced opposition within their own parties. The same is true of the other Republican members from the western part of the state, with the exception of W. O. Smith of Punxsutawney and Joseph C. Sibley of Franklin. They are not candidates. Solomon R. Dresser of the Twenty-first district is also to retire voluntarily. In Philadelphia a successor to the late George A. Castor is to be elected from the Third district.

Hot Contest in View.

The fight this fall for control of the house of representatives will be one of the most hotly contested in many years. The Democrats believe they have a chance to elect a majority. James W. Griggs of Georgia has been selected for chairman of the congressional campaign committee. When the railroad rate bill finally passes and is signed by the President, it will be branded by the Democrats as a Democratic measure and they will go before the country asking for re-election because they supported it.

The Republican leaders have no fear of losing control of the house, although they do not hope to have 112 majority, as they have in this congress. That is an unusual majority, in fact, the largest in the history of the government, and was due to the tremendous vote polled by President Roosevelt two years ago. Republican gains were made in state delegations all over the country, gains that could scarcely be expected to hold. Pennsylvania returned but one Democrat two years ago, while in the preceding congress there were three.

With regard to Pennsylvania, much depends upon the character of the campaign for governor. If the fierce contest for that office should develop and state issues should be the sole ones, some of the present members may be endangered because of their identification with the Republican organization.

Not a Job for the Dems.

If the campaign is fought on national issues and if the people take into consideration the fact that the next congress will doubtless have the task of raising the tariff and of acting upon other important national questions, then there can be no doubt as to the result. Pennsylvania is so strongly Republican that it would not care to permit the Democrats to undertake tariff revision.

Missouri is a state that may suffer some Republican loss. In the last congress that delegation stood 15 Democrats and one Republican. The Roosevelt wave that swept over the state two years ago elected nine Republican congressmen and gave the Democrats but seven. It is extremely doubtful if more than four of the Republicans can be re-elected or be succeeded by men of their own faith.

Changes of this kind cannot rightly be construed as Republican losses, since they are merely a readjustment of the representation to the normal level. On questions of party policy Missouri is still a Democratic state, regardless of the fact that the Republicans were able to send a senator to Washington and that only Mr. Folk's personal strength saved the entire Democratic state ticket.

The Democratic members of congress are so pleased at the outlook that they have already begun to select a speaker. This honor, if the thing which they are hoping for should really happen, would go to John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, the minority floor leader.

Unwarranted Aspirations.

Champ Clark and David A. De Armond, both of Missouri, have also been mentioned as speakership possibilities, but it is believed they would have no show against Williams. Clark would like to be chairman of the ways and means committee, as he has free trade ideas. Incidentally he would use such a position as a stepping-stone for his presidential aspirations. All of which is amusing the Republicans, who feel secure in their strength.

It is probable that an entirely new staff of officers will man the Republican congressional campaign committee this fall and take charge of the election. Representative Babcock of Wisconsin stated that he will not have the position again. He has conducted six congressional campaigns, all of them victories, and besides, he is going to have a hard fight from the LaFollette faction up in his own district, that will require his concentrated attention and efforts. He has been an insurgent in the present session, fighting the statehood measure and the Philippine tariff bill, both of them administration bills.

Jesse Overstreet, who has served as secretary of the committee for 12 years, also declines to take it again. He is rather sulky because the President gave a piece of his patronage out in Indiana to Senator Beveridge.

There is no lack of good material among the members of congress. Mr. Tawney of Minnesota is talked of for the chairmanship, and if the President and the speaker should ask him to take it there is little doubt that he would consent. He had charge of the speakers' bureau in the last campaign.

It has been pointed out that campaign funds will be rather short this year. The insurance investigation has cut off any possibility of contributions from that source. The railroads will not be in a mood to help either side, and corporations in general will be shy of chipping in at this time. But as these conditions will affect both sides, it will give neither an advantage.

GEN. SCHOFIELD DIES IN SOUTH

Last Civil War Commander and Former Head of Army Passes Away.

BRILLIANT SERVICE RECORD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., March 4.—Lieut.-Gen. John M. Schofield, U. S. A. (retired), former head of the army, died at 8:20 o'clock tonight. He was attacked this morning with cerebral hemorrhage.

His wife and young daughter were with him.

With the death of Gen. Schofield the last surviving army commander during the civil war, has passed away.

The funeral services will be held at the residence in time for the body to leave on a train for Washington tomorrow afternoon at 5:55 o'clock.

Lieut.-Gen. John McAllister Schofield was born in Chautauqua county, N. Y., September 29, 1831. He remained in the Empire state until he was 12 years old, when he went with his father to Illinois. In that state he acquired his early education and obtained reappointment to the United States military academy, in 1848.

His career in the academy was brilliant. He was graduated June 30, 1853. The day after he was graduated he was breveted a second lieutenant of artillery in the regular army, and spent the following two years with it at Fort Moultrie, Charleston harbor, and Fort Casslo, Florida. He was then ordered to West Point as assistant professor of natural and experimental philosophy at the military academy.

Work in Missouri.

On March 2, 1858, he was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant and transferred to the First regiment of regular artillery. He remained, however, at West Point as an instructor, for five years, when he obtained leave of absence to go to St. Louis and occupy the chair of professor of natural philosophy in the Washington university.

This position he retained until the war of the rebellion, when he was ordered by the war department to muster into the service the union volunteers of Missouri. Subsequently he was appointed major of the First Missouri infantry, which entered the service on April 28, 1861.

When the Eleventh regiment of regular infantry was organized Lieut. Schofield was promoted to the rank of captain. On June 17, 1861, he took part in the battle of Boonville, Mo., participated in the the engagement at Dug Spring, August 2, and the battle of Wilsons Creek, August 10.

When the forces in Missouri were reorganized after the removal of Gen. Fremont, Maj. Schofield was commissioned a brigadier general of volunteers, and was assigned to the command of the militia of the state of Missouri. In April, 1862, four-fifths of the state was placed under the command of Gen. Schofield, and on June 1 the district of Missouri was formed and Gen. Schofield was placed in command of all the troops belonging to it.

Success as Commander.

He quickly drove the active forces of the enemy into the extreme southwestern corner of the state, and he was appointed to the command of the army of the frontier. With these new forces he defeated the enemy under Gen. Hindman in the northwestern portion of Arkansas, in October, 1862, and drove them beyond the Boston mountains.

When the Missouri militia was reorganized for service, on December 1, 1862, Gen. Schofield was placed in command of the First brigade, and on May 24, 1863, having been commissioned a major general of volunteers, he assumed command of the department of Missouri.

Early in 1864 Gen. Schofield was assigned to the command of the army of the Ohio. On November 30, 1864, he fought the battle of Franklin, and fell back to Nashville. He then helped in the pursuit, which virtually destroyed the whole of Hood's army. For his conduct he was promoted to the rank of brigadier general of the regular army.

Gen. Schofield was next assigned to the command of the department of North Carolina, and assisted in the final overthrow of Johnston's army in April.

While in command of the department of North Carolina, Gen. Schofield was sent abroad to negotiate with Napoleon, and, after his return from France, he went to Virginia and took charge of affairs there during the reconstruction period.

Was Secretary of War.

Subsequently Gen. Schofield was appointed secretary of war. Soon after leaving the cabinet Gen. Schofield was placed in command of the Pacific slope division, and later was transferred to the division of the west.

On the death of Gen. Hancock, Gen. Schofield succeeded him as the head of the division of the Atlantic, and took up his residence at Governors island, New York harbor.

The army being left, by the death of Gen. Sherman, without a commander, President Cleveland, on August 14, 1888, appointed Gen. Schofield to fill the vacancy.

CLAIM DAWSON AND ELKINS ARE IN DEAL

For Supporting Latter the Governor Is Promised Senator Scott's Seat in Senate.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., March 4.—An interesting story bearing on West Virginia politics reached here tonight from Washington regarding the recent visit of Gov. Dawson to Washington and his dinner with Senator Elkins. Dawson had just had his letter regarding the railroad combine having his state in its grasp read in the senate by Senator Tillman, with the implication that neither of the West Virginia senators was in sympathy with him on the matter.

Dawson hit the popular chord in his letter and the story is that Elkins, seeing Dawson as a possible opponent for his own seat in the senate, proposed a coalition by which Gov. Dawson and his element of the Republican party are to support Elkins four years hence, and Elkins support Dawson for the seat of Senator H. B. Scott.

Senator Scott had heard the story and it is said that if the coalition is confirmed he will support some other senatorial aspirant from the southern end of the state against Elkins, and thus clear his way for support for himself from that part of the state in four years.

SHOWS GREAT INCREASE IN THE POSTAL TRAFFIC

Postmaster Holliday Demonstrates to Congressional Committee the Urgent Need of More Postoffice Room—Some Wonderful Statistics.

Postmaster George L. Holliday has furnished to the congressional committee on buildings and grounds interesting statistics showing the growth of the postal service since the postoffice building was first occupied, and proving the dire need of greater facilities.

The postmaster shows that in 1885 the city's population was 275,000, and in 1905 385,000, an increase of 40 per cent, and that by 1915 the population will be 520,000, the postoffice now serving a population in city and boroughs of 450,000. The workroom in the postoffice occupies 11,855 square feet, while the whole building and mailing shed contain 30,544 square feet. To take care of the space now occupied by other departments besides the workroom and to provide for sufficient space for the workroom 45,000 square feet altogether is required, while it is estimated that in 1915 90,000 square feet will be needed. More than 26,341 square feet is needed for the workroom right now.

In 1898 there were 186 carriers, 148 clerks and 31 special delivery messengers, a total of 245 employes, while in 1905 there were 289 carriers, 328 clerks, 65 special delivery messengers, 29 substitute clerks and 43 substitute carriers, a total of 754, 480 employes being assigned to the main office.

The following table furnishes some interesting information:

Gross receipts, 1873	$ 213,961 81
Gross receipts, 1898	554,947 99
Gross receipts (present building occupied), 1891	558,585 78

Gross receipts, 1898	739,556 55
Gross receipts, 1905	1,740,720 84
Gross receipts for year ending June 30, 1895	658,824 58
Gross receipts for year ending June 30, 1905	1,822,393 13
Percentage increase 1905 over 1895, 146.32.
Estimated receipts for fiscal year, 1915	$3,987,153 60
Postal receipts year of occupancy, present building, June 30, 1891	558,585 78
Postal receipts (calendar year), 1905	1,740,720 86
Increase	$1,172,135 08
Percentage increase, 209.
Estimated postal receipts at present rate for 1915	$3,911,000 00
Receipts for fiscal year ending June 30, 1905	1,822,393 13
Total expenditures	573,509 30
Net earnings of office	$1,048,883 83
Percentage expense, 25.36.

In 1891, $2,427,412.86 was received on money order account, and in 1905 $10,739,431.72, an increase in 14 years of $8,332,018.72, or 343 per cent; money order paid off accounts in 1891, $2,479,960.13, and in 1905, $10,725,648.53, an increase of $8,245,688.53, or 332 per cent. The statement for 1891 represents all the money order business done; the statement for 1905 represents that done at the main office only, while there are 44 stations at which money order business is handled.

In 1820 there were 38,851 total paid registrations, while in 1905, there were 226,357, an increase of 467 per cent. In 1899 91,245 registered letters and parcels were received for delivery and in 1905 286,357, an increase of 191 per cent.

The following is a comparative statement of mail hauled in the mailing division for 1891 and 1905:

SAMUEL S. WALLACE IS GLAD CHASE IS OVER

Now in Greensburg Jail, Where He Says He Will Get Long Needed Rest.

GREENSBURG, PA., March 4.—Deputy Sheriff Edward Keppie of this county arrived this evening from Chicago with Samuel S. Wallace, who is wanted at Vandergrift on charges of embezzlement and fraud. Wallace was arrested at Chicago Friday by detectives who have been on his trail since last December. R. W. Tener of Pittsburgh made information before Justice J. C. Beatty of Greensburg, charging Wallace with conspiracy to cheat and defraud the United Engineering and Foundry Company at Vandergrift by causing the company to pay for more scrap iron and steel and for a different quality of iron and steel than was delivered to it by the firm of Baumgart & Deutsch.

At the time information was made against Wallace charges of fraud were also made against George E. Bennett, H. W. Petty, Sol Deutsch and S. Baumgart. Warrants were issued for their arrest by Justice Beatty. Bennett, Petty, Deutsch and Baumgart are charged with conspiring with Wallace to defraud the company. The warrants will be served tomorrow.

Wallace was locked in the county jail. He says this is the happiest day he has spent since Christmas. Dodging detectives unnerved him, he says. He states that the governor of Illinois is his personal friend and that good lawyers will be here from Chicago to defend him. He says that the report that his wife and friends deserted him after his arrest is not true. He does not want bail.

WEAVER FORCES HAVE VICTORY IN COUNCILS

McNichol-Leger Forces Offer Compromise Which Is Refused by the Administration.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 4.—The councils' caucuses tomorrow promises to be most disappointing. The old machine leaders, facing defeat at the hands of Mayor Weaver and his followers, hoisted the white flag today and offered a compromise to the friends of Select Councilman Crothers, the reform candidate for president.

"We'll let you organize select council," said the envoys of the wrecked machine to the friends of Crothers, "if you will let us organize common council."

The answer was an absolute and emphatic refusal to treat in any way with the McNichol-Segee forces. Energetic agents paid visits to the homes of a number of members of councils. They went armed with convincing arguments, but they came away unable to report progress.

VESSEL SPINS LIKE TOP IN STORMY SEA

Hair-Raising Experience of English Steamer in Terrific Gale of a Week Ago.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NORFOLK, VA., March 4.—Caught in the center of a hurricane off Barnegat last Tuesday afternoon and spun around in the storm like a pinwheel, was the thrilling experience which the British steamer Mantinea passed through. The vessel arrived in port three days overdue from New York and her skipper, Capt. McKimmon, recited a tale that was calculated to make the ordinary landlubber's hair stand on end.

To add to the difficulty of navigating her and keeping her head to the wind the vessel was without cargo and had very little ballast. How the vessel managed to come out unscathed is another one of those freaks of nature.

Capt. McKimmon recited today that the storm of last week was one of the worst, if not the worst in his experience. Those aboard the vessel stated that the wind blew anywhere from 86 to 100 miles an hour. Giant combers swept her decks clear.

Without a cargo the steamer plunged in the waves, the bow being clear out of the water at one time and the propeller rising clear the next. Within a circle of 25 miles the steamer was spun around like a top.

All of Tuesday night the Mantinea was in the hurricane and from Wednesday to Thursday night the steamer was hove to off the Jersey coast. The vessel was uninjured and none of the crew hurt.

DEDICATE NEW CHURCH.

Congregation of First Methodist Episcopal of Swissvale, Opens House of Worship Without Any Debt.

The congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Swissvale participated in the dedication exercises of their new edifice last evening. Almost the entire congregation of 250 members was present and many visiting ministers aided in the services.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Forbes of Philadelphia, secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church Extension society, presided at the morning session and preached the sermon. Fraternal addresses consumed the entire afternoon, the speakers being the Rev. C. T. Street of Swissvale Baptist church, the Rev. R. M. Fowles of Swissvale Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. Arthur Smith of Mifflin Methodist Episcopal church, and the Rev. Bollinger of Millvale. The formal dedication services were held in the evening, Dr. Forbes preaching the sermon, and the Rev. Dr. I. F. Murray, presiding elder of the McKeesport district, officiating as dedicatory officer.

The First church was established years ago, but grew slowly until the Rev. H. A. Baum, the present pastor, was called three years ago. From a membership of 83 the congregation has grown to its present numbers and the new building, paid for by the congregation, is dedicated without debt. It has a seating capacity of 400 and cost $10,000.

HOLDS TO HIS POST.

Engineer Sees Landslide Ahead and Checks Momentum of Train Before Collision Occurs.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., March 4.—Running in excess of 40 miles an hour, Lackawanna passenger train leaving Binghamton on the Syracuse division at 6 p. m., crashed into a landslide two miles above Lisle Saturday evening, and after leaving the rails bounded along the ties for 500 feet. Charles Wilson, the engineer, was slightly hurt.

The absence of fatalities was due to the coolness of the engineer, who kept to the throttle when the headlight of the engine showed the mass of earth. Wilson shoved his air-brake lever past the emergency notch and reversed his engine. The collision unseated every passenger in the train, two being hurled the length of the coach.

Harry Gregg, the Rev. Dr. J. W. Miles of the First church and T. W. Hoover of the Coursin Street church.

PRICES SHOCK COMMITTEE

can borrow money, or issue bonds, which is the same thing, at 2 per cent to the amount of $60,000,000, and in 30 years the investment would pay for itself in increased revenues resulting from these improvements.

A committee of the Civic club, composed of W. H. Stevenson, J. Boyd Daff, P. W. Shepherd and County Commissioner Charles B. Price, called upon Chairman Bartholdt and the members of the congressional committee at the Hotel Annex yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and presented a plea in favor of establishing the postoffice among a group of public and semi-public buildings on a plaza, or public square, at the summit of Grant hill, near the court house.

Civic Club's Proposition.

The Civic club's scheme is to group together the courthouse, the city hall, the soldiers' memorial hall and future downtown library, new postoffice and other structures, with a large public square in the center, bounded by Ross and Grant streets and Sixth and Fifth avenues.

The Civic club had originally proposed that the new Pittsburgh city hall should be erected in the square bounded by Sixth avenue, Grant street and the proposed extension of Ross street and Strawberry alley, but W. H. Stevenson, the chairman of the delegation that presented the matter to the congressmen, suggested that the city should purchase the court house for its new city hall and the new postoffice be located on the grounds bounded by Ross street, Sixth avenue, Tunnel street and Fifth avenue. The Civic club committee said that properly could be purchased by the government for $20 per square foot or, approximately, $1,200,000 for the whole piece. An argument in favor of the site was that the Pennsylvania tunnel runs through the property and mail trains might be run into the basement of the new postoffice.

Favor an Ornamental Building.

Chairman Stevenson said afterwards the idea seemed to take hold of the congressmen and they received with favor the argument that the new postoffice should not only be designed for public utility, but should also be ornamental.

Chairman Bartholdt of the congressional committee received at the hotel a visit from a delegation of local citizens representing the societies from Western Pennsylvania of the National German-American Alliance. The delegation was led by Henry Arnold, H. C. Bloedel, William Kaiser, Louis Volz, H. M. Ferren, Theodore Lamb and Herman Blank. The officers of the delegation presented Congressman Bartholdt with a handsome leather-bound volume of views of Pittsburgh and vicinity as a testimonial of the appreciation of Mr. Bartholdt's successful opposition in congress to the enactment of illiberal and sumptuary laws.

Committee Rides in Automobiles.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the visiting congressmen were taken on a ride in automobiles. Some went out the boulevard. Chairman Bartholdt, who represents a large German-American constituency in St. Louis, a district said to comprise a population of 400,000, was taken to the South Side by Congressman Barchfeld. A visit was made to the Wittelsbacher Bavarian society in Jane street, where Congressmen Bartholdt and Barchfeld made short addresses.

A brief stop was made at the Lotus club in Sidney street and the automobile was driven across the Twenty-second street bridge to the German club in Craft avenue, Oakland, where lavish hospitality was shown the party. From the German club Chairman Bartholdt and colleagues went to the residence of John P. Ober, near Schenley park, and thence to the hotel to prepare to get the night train for Washington.

Yellow Row for Illustration.

That Congressman Barthodlt quickly became acquainted with real estate values in Pittsburgh was evident from a remark he made to Congressman Barchfeld when being whisked to the South Side by a short cut along Second avenue to the South Tenth street bridge.

"That," said Congressman Barchfeld, pointing to a dilapidated line of frame shanties, "is the Yellow row, the only real fire-proof buildings in Pittsburgh."

"If land is so expensive in Pittsburgh," said Chairman Barthodlt, remembering what he had been told about the cost of postoffice sites, "it is wonder that ground is not used."

"Oh, it is to be cut down for a boulevard," replied the South Side congressman, without changing countenance.

PUTS UP FIERCE FIGHT.

Former Policeman Battles With Officers After Skull Is Fractured.

James Fullerton, a former policeman, is at the West Penn hospital with a fractured skull. John Stafford of 2329 Penn avenue is charged with having hit him with a beer bottle in a house at Mulberry alley and Twenty-fourth street, where the two men had a fight Saturday night.

When the police were called Fullerton fought so fiercely that assistance had to be summoned. He continued to fight when the patrol wagon arrived and once broke away, but was recaptured. The arresting officers were covered with blood. Fullerton's injury was discovered at the police station.

Government Charters Transports.

SEATTLE, WASH., March 4.—The Great Northern Steamship company, it was said today, has been requested by the war department to name a price for the chartering of the steamers Minnesota and Dakota for transports. The company has named a price which is satisfactory, the report says.

YOUNG LAWYERS GET HIGH OFFICE

Four Practicing Attorneys Are Elected Burgesses in Allegheny County Boroughs.

ALL HAVE HAD RAPID RISE

The recent elections in the boroughs in Allegheny county demonstrate that this is the day of the young man in politics. Where previously none but gray-bearded men were considered eligible to the highest office in these little towns and suburban communities, many young business and professional men have gone before the people and have succeeded in being elected by the biggest majorities given the Republican ticket in many years. Notable among these were four lawyers who succeeded in being elevated on the Republican ticket to the offices of burgess in Crafton, Etna, East Pittsburgh and Canonsburg.

Pier Dannals, formerly president of the Crafton council, and elected councilman when but 22, was elected by a majority of about six to one over his opponent, and will take his seat today. Mr. Dannals was admitted to practice law in Allegheny county in 1895 after graduating high in his class at the University of Pennsylvania. He is a young man of much ability and can have almost any office in the gift of the people of Crafton, where he has resided much of his life. He is also a power in politics throughout the Chartiers valley and in the Sixth legislative district.

George H. Calvert, a graduate of the Western university, is a practicing lawyer who was elected burgess of Etna at the last election. Mr. Calvert has formed a partnership with former Judge Elliott Rodgers and William A. Blakeley, under the firm name of Rodgers, Blakeley & Calvert, cards announcing the same having just been issued. He is the son of the Rev. Alexander H. Calvert. Since his admission a few years ago Mr. Calvert has rapidly jumped to the front in the practice of his profession, having been attorney for the county treasurer, county delinquent tax collector and county controller during the last administration. He also held the office of school director in Etna for four years.

Blaine Ewing, burgess-elect of the borough of Canonsburg, is a native of that town, and is the youngest son of the late Rev. William Ewing, Ph. D., for many years principal of Jefferson academy. Mr. Ewing attended the local academy and also Washington and Jefferson college and the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated. He is a practicing attorney with offices in Pittsburgh and makes daily trips to and from the city. He was formerly a member of the South Canonsburg school board. At the present time he is borough solicitor of South Canonsburg. He succeeds Thomas M. Reese on March 5 as burgess. Mr. Ewing also has a large and lucrative practice and finds time to dabble extensively in politics.

Van Voltis A. Powell has long been solicitor of East Pittsburgh borough, and in that capacity accomplished a number of notable reforms, and made some good borough laws. He is a graduate of Ann Arbor, Mich., and during his practice at the Allegheny county bar has handled a number of important cases. His elevation to burgess on the Republican ticket was a natural result of his interest in politics for the good of his home town.

MAN BURNED IN FIRE OF NEW YORK CAR BARN

Many Hurt in Panic Following Report of Pending Explosion of Gas Tanks.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 4.—The Forty-second street car barns of the Metropolitan Railway Company were burned tonight. One man, said to have been an employe, lost his life, and several persons were injured, a fireman seriously. Between 30 and 40 cars were destroyed. The total damage is estimated at more than $200,000. The fire was an exceptionally spectacular one and at its height the flames were leaping several hundred feet into the air.

Several immense gas tanks of the Consolidated Gas Company, across the street, were threatened, and a report that they were about to explode sent several thousand spectators in a wild flight. Several persons were hurt.

When the fire had gained great headway a man appeared at one of the rear windows and called for help. His clothing was on fire. Lieut. Gordan reached the window by a ladder and was about to take hold of him when the man tottered back into the flames. Gordan was compelled to retreat to save his own life.

Accidentally Kills Her Sister.

GETTYSBURG, March 4.—Mrs. Isaac H. Welkert, residing near here, last night accidentally shot and instantly killed her sister, Miss Eliza Weaver, aged 25. Mrs. Welkert was examining a revolver which had been purchased by her husband, she supposing it was empty. Mrs. Welkert is heartbroken over the affair and is in a serious condition.

DEATH BY INDIGESTION.

A Long Train of Fatal Ills Is the Direct Result of Undigested Food.

Undigested food, by fermenting, forms a poison in the stomach and this is absorbed in the blood. If this goes on very long, and your heart happens to be weak, you'll be found some morning dead in bed, or you may fall back down the stairs about an hour and a half after dinner, and the doctor will call it heart disease. Yes, that may be the result, but not the cause. The cause is indigestion. Indigestion is a simple, common word, but it has a terrible import.

And so you may get apoplexy, and die suddenly while you're standing.

If you have a weak liver, the poison of undigested food will attack it and you will get jaundice. If you have weak kidneys, you will get Bright's Disease or diabetes, from which there is no rescue for any man.

It was a learned physician who said that the progress of a race depended upon the stomach of its members.

And you have at some time in your life eaten a heavy meal, or eaten in a hurry, and felt that "lump of lead" immediately afterward. That lump of lead is a hard ball of undigested food. The stomach can't digest it, and finds it hard to throw it out. And so it sours, and it makes you sour and everybody sour who talks with you. It gives you a bad breath and is building for you the road to dyspepsia and death, unless you stop it.

Stop it with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Just think, these little tablets are every bit as powerful as the gastric juice in your stomach. One grain will digest 3,000 grains of food. Isn't this wonderful? And it is true, just try it, and prove it.

If you have any brash, gas on the stomach, fermentation, burning, blotty feeling, indigestion, dyspepsia or heartburn, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will make it disappear before it can do any harm to your heart or other organs.

They will invigorate the stomach, relieve the stomach of two-thirds of its work and give it a chance to rest. They will increase the flow of gastric juice, and if you will ever "live" in your lifetime, it will be after you have eaten a good, hearty meal, and taken one of these little tablets immediately afterward. You'll just feel fine.

Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after your next meal today and you will use them ever afterward. You will be cheerful, vigorous and your mind will be clear; you'll have snap and vim, and add many a day to your life.

You can get these wonderful little tablets at any druggist's for 50c a package.

We're 57 Years Old Today

YES, we know you thought all those fifty-sevens that were in the papers last week referred to those other thing we often hear about, but we were rather jubilant over having arrived at such a discreet age and were glad to use such well known digits.

We must confess it was a little mystifying, but it's all right now that you understand what the cabalistic 57 meant.

Different Dinners 57 cts.

Orchestra 11:45-2:15.

Consomme, Broiled Shad, Maitre d'H'otel, Roast Spring Lamb, Mint Sauce, Potatoes, Au Gratin, Lima Beans, Rolls and Butter, Pie or Ice Cream, Coffee.	Puree of Tomato Soup, Roast Prime Ribs of Beef, Mashed Potatoes, Stewed Tomatoes, Chicken Croquette with French Peas, Rolls and Butter, Pie or Ice Cream Coffee.
Spring Vegetable Soup, Boiled Philadelphia Capon, Celery Sauce, Oyster Pattie, Baked Potatoes, String Beans, Rolls and Butter, Pie or Ice Cream, Coffee.	Scotch Mutton Broth, Roast Stuffed Turkey, Cranberry Sauce, Mashed Potatoes, Green Peas, Rolls and Butter Pie or Ice Cream, Coffee.

Today the figures 5 and 7 reign supreme here—hundreds upon hundreds of articles for 57c, hundreds and hundreds of articles for other prices in which the fractional part is 57—for instance, $1.57, $4.57, $10.57 and so on. Everything points to our age. That is the intent and purpose of this sale.

Attend Today if Possible.

We advise this simply because many of the lots for the very low prices quoted will go out fast and the choice will be best on this first day. We have bought hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of new goods—new goods for Spring—and we have no hesitancy in saying that we exacted from the people of whom we bought a concession in honor of our age and this occasion, and also to give our public something valuable as a memento of our having rounded out 57 years of mercantile life.

Following is a list of the best parts of Saturday afternoon's news:

Men's $1.00 Negligee Shirts, 57c

Only 900 of them, bought especially for this occasion. Pleated bosoms. First-class percale.

Monday, March 5, 1906.

John F. Wallace is giving entirely new reasons for his resignation and expressing new views about the canal. He has a right to his opinions, of course, but good taste might dictate silence on his part as being wiser than many words.

After looking over the situation there is but one opinion among the members of the congressional committee that has just visited this city. A new postoffice building is needed. It will soon be an urgent necessity. The only question is one of cost. A suitable site is the most difficult part of the problem. This, however, can be solved.

Burglars have been very busy in and around this city for some time and the police appear powerless to give relief. It ought not to be so. The active burglar has well known characteristics and if the police administrations on both sides of the river were efficient they could not long go undiscovered. At least the same gang could not go on committing depredations indefinitely.

How the scene has shifted in the mid-continent oil field is indicated in the monthly report of the Independence Reporter. In Kansas 23 oil wells were completed in February with an aggregate production of 581 barrels; in the territories 229 wells; production, 9,720 barrels. This is how Kansas has become an insignificant factor, while there is great overproduction in the field and it is ample testimony to the correctness of The Gazette's prognosis of a year ago.

Personal registration under the new law will not only entail heavy expense on the public, but will produce some odd situations, as indicated in our tabulation yesterday. In several precincts minority representation belongs to parties never heard of prior to the recent city election and some that may never be heard of again. It is questionable whether members of these parties can be found to act as registrars, but we believe the law may be so construed as to prevent serious embarrasement on this account.

Patrick Dolan's reply to John Mitchell is full enough of grim humor to relieve the strained situation. In effect it contends President Dolan of the district is no more subject to the personal will of President Mitchell of the national organization than President Mitchell is subject to the whim of President Dolan. It is a logical contention if, as we understand, the constitution of the organization provides for the selection of both on as independent a basis as the President of the United States and a governor of a state. It is welcomed chiefly, however, as introducing the element of humor that so often saves Americans from foolish strife.

In the midst of a torrent of magazine pessimism, ranging from attacks on every branch of government to tirades against graft and the "trusts," it is gratifying to find a more cheerful note. In the pessimistic desert there has appeared an inviting oasis—a series of articles appearing in Outing under the caption of "The Builders," by Ralph D. Paine. Mr. Paine's instructions were to go out and find the "real Americans," the successors to the fathers who laid the foundations of the republic. He has found them in many places, the same fearless, energetic, wholesome people who have erected the structure and who stand ready to preserve it. There is a bright side to the American picture.

Prosperity is sometimes the best test of the peace of a country. This certainly applies to France. A summary of the foreign trade of that nation for the first 11 months of 1905 shows that the exports increased over the previous year $86,000,000. The French minister of commerce in commenting on this thrift said that it was greater than ever before known in its history. He attributed this satisfactory progress to the wise policy of the third republic and the peace of nearly 35 years, a longer period of quiet than France has enjoyed for 800 years. This prosperity then has something to do with those triumphs of peace that are no less renowned than those of war and waste.

Pittsburgh's Future.

Plans for duplicating the Pennsylvania railroad on modern lines are announced. They include paralleling the present road with another double track line, with easier grades and curves. Nearly half of the work has been accomplished under the guise of auxiliary trackage, but now the complete plan is exposed to view. It is significant of the prosperity of the country and the enormous growth of traffic, as it is of the daring executive ability of the present head of the Pennsylvania system.

Pittsburgh is no small factor in this development, first, of the Pennsylvania into the greatest railroad in the world; second, into a double system without a rival. Pittsburgh tonnage has done more than all else to build up the giant; Pittsburgh tonnage is the pressure that compels this magnificent enlargement. Pittsburgh tonnage and passenger traffic have compelled improvement of the old roadbed to the limit and they are forcing the new construction that is taking advantage of all the triumphs of modern engineering science.

In the announcement of yesterday there is an augury of a new era for Pittsburgh. The growth of the past 25 years is to be repeated in increasing proportion. This region has ever been handicaped by but one thing, lack of transportation, or lack of fair traffic terms. Difficult as the topography is the railroad world has discovered it can be brought into subjection and Pittsburgh is promised better facilities than it has ever had. And that is the whole question of Pittsburgh's future.

Bridling the Mississippi.

Pittsburgh enterprise is found in all parts of the globe, so it is not surprising to learn it has undertaken to harness the Upper Mississippi river to produce light, heat and power. The project of James I. Buchanan and those associated with him in Minnesota differs in details and degree alone from many that have been carried to successful issue. The harnessing of Niagara—which now threatens to ruin the spectacle—was a sensation. Utilization of streams high in the Sierras and Rockies has created wonder. Bridling the Mississippi is in the same line.

Pittsburgh genius, Pittsburgh machinery, Pittsburgh capital have taken part in all of these achievements and will contribute to many more. Yet these are but manifestations of surplus energy. Here in the Pittsburgh region is the central force, the unresting power that is always forging the crude elements of nature into wonderful amalgams and useful forms. Pittsburgh is king among American creators.

The Chicago Situation.

There can be no doubt the disorderly conditions prevailing in Chicago have reached a point where they are very trying on the patience of the law-abiding class, but it is not improving the lamentable order of things when an alderman of that city states in a public interview the community is "ripe for lynch law." Nothing whatever would be gained by resort to mob vengeance. As a frenzied gathering is no respector of law chaos would be the result. This same indiscreet alderman predicts unless the police department of Chicago is reorganized and strengthened there will be a whirlwind of wrath on the part of the people compared with which the present law-and-order agitation will be "like a summer breeze to a cyclone."

These statements, coming from a city official, are dangerous because they are calculated to inflame a populace whose temper is already near the breaking point.

The responsibility for the plague of crime afflicting Chicago is easily placed. The incompetency and indifference of the officials charged with enforcement of the laws are the prime causes. The people have the remedy in their own hands, and it can be applied through the ballot box. Resort to violence would be but to use the weapon of the thugs, and would be a further menace to society instead of affording relief.

There is nothing the matter with the laws. What is needed is fearless, energetic administrators and the weeding out of the inert and indifferent incumbents. It seems at this juncture the mayor of Chicago should be engaged in more profitable business than paddling around in the speculative sea of municipal ownership. His predecessors were guilty of spineless submission to illegal manifestations, but he is, if possible, less competent to administer law in the city. The turbulent alderman simply voices the violent sentiment that underlies the whole trouble.

Vaccination Law Again.

The Gazette admits to its columns two letters on the subject of vaccination reflecting extreme opposing views. It offers no comment on the arguments for or against vaccination, as it has not been discussing that subject. We simply offered the opinion a week ago that in construing between two laws, Dr. Dixon should have given the preference to education, which is the right of every child in good health.

This opinion is controverted by the Cannonsburg principal who accuses The Gazette of opposing enforcement of law, holding the compulsory education and vaccination laws to be not in conflict, despite the opinion of the attorney general to the contrary. He founds his contention on the fact that children are exempt from attendance when physically unable to attend and are excluded when their homes are quarantined on account of contagious disease—similarly when the child is not vaccinated. We cannot sympathize with this extreme view that an unvaccinated person is in active menace to the public health on a par with one suffering from diphtheria or smallpox, nor can we recognize the force of an argument based on such an assumption.

We do not propose to thresh over the controversy between vaccination and anti-vaccination and shall not encourage correspondents to do so at this time. The communications printed this morning are admitted by courtesy.

An Incomplete Remedy.

Several times The Gazette has referred to the necessity for expert, official inspection of concrete construction, though there is really need for better inspection of all kinds of building. Pertinent to this subject a letter has been received from an engineer and contractor who makes a specialty of armored concrete, complaining that much inferior work is being done, because contracts are let to lowest bidders, irrespective of the grade of work. This he denounces as "wrong, vicious practice." He says men assume to know all about concrete who have no actual knowledge of the business, and he continues:

It is actually and most unfortunately true that some of these work with a safety factor of two, instead of four. Because of these low bids and consequent desire to reduce cost of construction, they begin to cut on the quantity and quality of cement—of the steel reinforcing material, and for labor pick up the scum of the streets—all with problematic results. To ward off any responsibility, the architect very seldom specifies dimensions of concrete members, or placing of reinforcing steel bars; he leaves it to the contractor, who is "out for blood."

Therefore it is coming more and more the vogue to intrust the construction of concrete building to experienced specialists in that line on cost-plus-a-fixed-sum-contracts as follows:

As soon as the general plan and specification are ready, the cost of the proposed structure is estimated approximately; 10 to 15 per cent of this amount is taken and called "The fixed sum." Contracts with the owners are made, to erect and complete the proposed work at actual cost, plus this fixed sum, and nothing more.

While the new style contract puts control of the building in the hands of the builder and will "help some," it does not obviate the necessity for expert inspection. Many builders know less about the materials and stresses than the contractors of whom our correspondent complains. Their control is of value in as far as they have competent advice. If they have the services of a competent engineer they are safe, else they remain at the mercy of the contractor who may be of the Budenseik type.

First of all city authorities should prescribe a standard for this style of construction. Then they should enforce it. Skimping to the point of danger should be punishable. No chance should be taken on having a great disaster from the collapse of a building unequal to carrying the load for which it is designed. Pending official regulation builders should exercise the greatest care in selection of capable and honest contractors, for they must necessarily share responsibility, and should insist on an ample factor of safety.

Much distress is manifested in some questions over the ousting of a few Democratic politicians from the county offices. The plaint is the places are being used merely as spoils of victory. When those Democrats were given the offices as spoils, pure and simple, there were no walls, though some of the most competent clerks in the county service were thrown out.

Home-Made Ardens.

A good many people went away from the opera house the other night wishing they might live in the forest of Arden. The cares of life did not seem to dwell heavily upon those who dwelt there. Goethe used to say that in the great world each makes a small one of his own. Then why not live in the forest of Arden right here at home? Simplicity of life; the open air, sweet and fresh for all; "the sweet bird's note" for all who listen—in a word, the pure delights of life are at hand and each may make a little Arden of his own.—Oil City Blizzard.

Quiet Observations on Ways of the World

The Charm of a Great City, Once in a City, Always in a City.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

This seems to be the rule. At least, we do not find very many going from greater to lesser cities, nor to the country, except for purely business reasons.

And yet we are continually hearing people talking about leaving the city and going back to the country village, or to the farm. Usually these are from the farm or town, and no doubt they are in earnest when they say they would like to go back again.

It would be all right, or at least more satisfactory, if they could go back in years, as in feelings, and be as they were when they came away.

There is nothing more agreeable than to recall the days when you were growing up on the farm or in the village. And the older you grow, and the longer you are away, the brighter and dearer become these memories.

But you must bear in mind that memories are not realities.

* * *

Do you ever go back to your old stamping ground, the place which your memory keeps brightest, and your heart holds dearest?

If so, you have discovered, no doubt, that it is not the place you have pictured in your mind. At least it does not fill the bill, so to speak. The old house may be there, the trees you used to climb, the fields in which you worked, and the grounds over which you romped and played, but they are not the same, or rather you are not the same.

That which you have pictured so bright and cheerful is now dull and stupid. It is no longer a delight to paddle along muddy roads, run through wet grass, and sit behind the kitchen stove.

Work on the farm has lost its charm if it ever had any, the village is a poky place, the houses mere shacks, and the people slow and uninteresting.

You are not the same as when you were in your glory there. To you there is a new world, and it is very different from the world in which you once lived. The trouble is with yourself.

* * *

Here in this great big city, one of the biggest and greatest in the world, may be found those who once thought Pittsburgh a great city, and good enough for anybody to live in, but now look upon it much as you look upon your country village—good enough to visit once in awhile, but no longer a satisfactory place in which to live.

Occasionally you find one from Pittsburgh who thinks his old town is too slow and commonplace for anything, and rather delights in running it down. Such disloyal sons and daughters are few and far between, and it is safe to conclude they never were stanchly loyal.

While there is not nearly as much difference between New York and Pittsburgh as between Pittsburgh and a country village, yet they are vastly different.

New York is much bigger, has many more large business houses, more theaters, more fashionable hotels, and more fashionable people, yet it is not more enterprising, more substantial nor more prosperous. There are more rich people here, more stylish people and more worthless people.

* * *

But the fact remains that if you imbibe the spirit of New York deeply for awhile you will hardly relish the Pittsburgh spirit more than westerners relish its smoke and grime.

For those who fancy a gay life, a fast life, or an exciting life, this is the place, for here they will find galeties of all sorts, and gaits to suit any taste or purse.

There are those from our town who are willing to live here in comparative poverty just for the privilege of strolling down Fifth avenue of an evening, mingling with the Broadway crowds at night, and writing letters on Waldorf-Astoria stationery.

Some like it here because they are practically lost to the world, while at home they would be known. No doubt many who have been unable to keep pace with friends of their youth, or have met with reverses, come here to get out of sight of old associates.

New York is a most fascinating and alluring place for those who haven't business interests elsewhere.

CASUAL GLIMPSES AROUND THE CITY

Notes About People and Events in Which Pittsburghers Are Interested.

Randolph Guggenheimer, the New York millionaire financier, passed through Union station last night on the private car "Deermont" bound from Chicago to New York.

"The present boom in mining stocks," said Mr. Guggenheimer tersely, "mirrors our firm financial condition. As far as the run of mines comes in connection with my banking business, I judge that this mining craze rests on a very firm foundation. It plainly indicates the mass of the people have refused to be scared by the diatribes of demagogues or by the startling financial exposes. They have correctly sized up the good and the bad indications in these revelations and have the loose money and keen insight enough to create riches out of erstwhile barren wastes. It is unnecessary to say that in individual cases the need of caution is plainly evident to the most reckless investor."

Art Critic Here on a Mission.

R. B. Van Boss arrived yesterday from Holland. He is an eminent European artist and as an art critic is considered one of the most authoritative in Europe. He is a Hollander by birth, but a cosmopolitan in tastes. It is understood Mr. Van Boss was called from Europe to act as curator of paintings or in the part of a general advisor in the Carnegie Art institute.

"My position in regard to the Carnegie institute is a little indefinite as yet," he said. "I have been invited to give the benefit of my experience to the Carnegie institute in passing on the merit of paintings and articles of virtue. Further than that I am not authorized to express my aims at present."

A Congressman on Pittsburgh's Expansion

Congressman Richard Barthold of the congressional committee on postoffices is from Missouri, and naturally expects to be "shown." In the lobby of the Schenley, just before returning to Washington, the Missouri congressman admitted he had been thoroughly shown Pittsburgh's need for a great postoffice building. In the course of a conversation he commented favorably on the hospitality shown by Saturday night's banquet and said he hoped Pittsburgh would expand like the diner in a story told him by Gov. Pennypacker.

Gov. Pennypacker recently noticed the tremendous girth of a friend of his who is an ardent gourmand and an accomplished banqueter.

"At a banquet, what rules of eating do you follow?" he asked.

"I have only one rule at a banquet and it's a beast," replied the man. "When I take my place at the festive board I always sit just six inches away from the table, and when I touch the table by expansion, then I know I'm done."

"May Pittsburgh expand in a like manner, but with no limit," concluded Congressman Bartholdt.

Lent and the Reason for Its Hold.

Season of Sorrow Answers a Deep and Universal Human Longing.

By A MINISTER.

A man may be neither a fanatic nor a pessimist who enters his annual protest against the flippancy concerning Lent. Lent is not a trifling thing, and while jokes on this season appear with more or less effectiveness they invariably leave a bad taste.

Americans are a fun-making people, and the stock of quips to supply an incessent demand must be constantly replenished. People want to laugh. They are willing to make sport out of serious misadventures. Even when reverses come, they can come up smiling with undismayed good spirit. But there is a limit to fun-making. Probably the limit was passed when the first pun or joke was made on this sacred and significant institution of tens of thousands of good people.

There is a law for every man, even if he is only an amateur humorist, which says, in sum, that a pleasantry must not offend the established reverence for religious customs.

This Lenten desecration, is it not to break over the bounds of legitimate funny business, into the bad lands of sacrilege? To be amused is not the highest thing to engage a man, and some of the usefulness of people may be in turning this desire for continuous merriment into serious and healthful channels.

* * *

However good the foregoing suggestion may be, the more important thing to consider is the wide acceptance of the season of Lent. The fact that it makes a subject for the humorist shows that people all know about it, and have some ideas concerning its observance. In a general way people associate these 40 days with the simple restraints in eating and pleasure-seeking.

The churches, at least the Roman Catholic, the Episcopal, the Reformed and the Lutheran, formally take cognizance of this time of sackcloth and ashes. In these denominations the liturgical forms employed, the chants, hymns, prayers and sermons, are all appropriate to the season.

Among so-called non-liturgical churches there seems to be a tendency toward the observance of Lent. There is a growing demand in all churches for more orderly and organic forms of worship, and better regard for the several seasons of the church year. There was a time, not long ago, when in many churches not even Christmas and Easter were celebrated.

If Lent continues to grow in the sentiment of people, they will not long delay the introduction of the celebration into the worship of their congregations. There is something in Lent, or it would have gone to pieces long ago.

* * *

What makes the Lenten days full of meaning is not the decrees of any church on the subject. It is deeper than that. Many pronouncements of church councils are dead. They were false in their appeal to life, and of course they died.

This security of Lent in the hearts of the people is founded on the everlasting rock of truth.

Of course a great many foolish ideas prevail on the subject, as on everything else of wide standing, and many ludicrous practices have become a fashion in Lent. Some people think the whole thing is composed by the withdrawing of one's life from dancing, theatergoing, card playing, and the adoption of a penurious diet, coupled with more frequent churchgoings.

But no one ever got a passport to the celestial country by the things he did without. Such practice in itself is of little worth. That is not to say, however, that much abstaining and increase in attendance upon the services for worship are not in keeping with the spirit of Lent, and therefore profitable and godly.

If the Lent-spirit is the moving power of those practices and denials, there is nothing in the world more beautiful and holy.

* * *

Lent and Lenten customs are as reasonable as Christmas and Christmas customs. The Christmas spirit and the Easter spirit are both full of lessons which are most effectively taught in their appointed times in the calendar. They celebrate the birth of Christ and the resurrection of Christ.

Lent is the anniversary of the suffering of Christ. His sufferings are not confined, of course, to these seven weeks, but they reach their historic expression in these days.

The character of Christ's experience determines the character of the days set apart for the observance of the experience. Hence they are filled with solemn and sorrowful memories. All recollection of suffering must have this effect.

* * *

Suffering of the right kind is the profoundest character-builder. Lent is invaluable because the Nazarene knew how to suffer. He had a much higher idea of the place of suffering in the scheme of human life than any of his followers.

In itself he neither praised suffering nor deplored it. It is neither good nor bad. The same thing is true of rejoicing. Pain and pleasure are not virtuous things, but only incidents in life.

The great thing is to make proper use of them. To court neither, to shun neither, as Dr. Peabody says, but to employ both for the life of all-roundness is a man's duty at all times.

To impose suffering artificially upon one's self is the most adject nonsense. To learn the reasonableness of Christ's suffering is the highest engagement. For by so doing one learns how to behave when his own portion of suffering is meted out to him for his sins or his righteousness in the years of experience. To learn the high art of suffering is no empty phrase. It is a commonplace necessity.

That is a fine saying of the athletic field, "A good loser." A greater attainment for any man is to become a good sufferer. Lent would be a much more useful institution if this were believed. For since suffering is the commonest of experiences, and since a failure to rightly employ it is a prevailing misfortune, surely Lent has a reasonableness for every man in God's world, in his seasons of adversity.

* * *

It follows naturally enough that the manner of the conduct of a person in Lent is of only secondary importance. If a man has caught the spirit of the season he will behave very well. The following of rules is a very unsatisfactory business for a man of morality and intelligence.

A Protestant Episcopal bishop has said that just as one would not care to go to a dance or engage in any other form of gayety on the anniversary of one's mother's death, so one, feeling the awful reality of the suffering of the Savior in this anniversary season, would not care for merry-making.

But the unhappy fact is that Christ is not so real for a great majority of Christians as is a mother. His suffering is all but forgotten in many respectable households. The attachment to the spirit of the suffering Savior is very vague.

In these deep truths of spiritual life in respect to Christ, many persons of normal growth in other details have not "put away childish things." They still think "as a child," and like children must be given rules which on their face seem foolish for such grownups. But these rules are necessary.

In Lent it is better to have an observance by the letter of the law than no observance at all. Many good things are learned in childhood by rote; for example, poetry, rules in grammar and arithmatic, and sections of the constitution of the United States. At first they are only so many words. But the truth of them shines through in due time. So will it be in Lent.

There will be a spiritual enjoyment of this sorrowful time as there now is at Christmas time. Even the rules, which now seem insincere and mechanical, will help. Men and women will welcome this significant period gladly, for its sweet reasonableness and human reality will illumine and warm their suffering hearts.

DEFENDS VACCINATION LAW.

School Principal Argues Right to Keep Children Out of School.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

I have read with much interest your editorials on vaccination, also the recent letters in The Gazette. Instead of a health physician wholly misconceiving the situation, as you state, I see the misconception as entirely with yourself. The compulsory school law and the vaccination law are not conflicting laws. The compulsory school law says the child must go to school from eight to 16, but there are several classes of children exempt from this compulsion: those physically unable, those quarantined for certain infectious or contagious diseases, those not vaccinated and others. A child from a home quarantined for diphtheria comes to school, is sent home by the teacher, according to law; another child not vaccinated comes to school, is sent home according to law. The first can return when the period for infection has passed and must be admitted; the second can return when vaccinated and must be admitted. In both cases the child was kept out because the law deemed it necessary for the health of the community. Whether it was in the latter case you say you do not wish to discuss, neither do I, neither of us are experts in this line. However it is a well known fact that the large majority of experts in this line believe in vaccination.

I, with many others, believe the better law than the present vaccination law would be a compulsory vaccination, which is almost universal in European countries, I understand. This, of course, would have to exempt those not in safe physical condition for vaccination—the same to be excluded from schools. But this is not the point at issue. You have either misconceived the law or you are preaching a very dangerous doctrine, disobedience to existing laws, which Dr. Dixon, as a state official, is duty bound to enforce. I take a charitiable view and believe you guilty on the first count. For I had never expected to find The Gazette advocating disobedience to law—wild anarchy, if you please—even though in homeopathic doses, as a cure-all for the diseases, either real or imaginary, of the body politic.

May I add one more word? All teachers of much experience well know the awful tales of injuries from vaccination are greatly overworked. In 18 years experience in teaching I have never known a case, out of many hundreds of pupils, injured by vaccination.

More Valuable to Congressman.

It is hardly possible to perceive that this distribution of free seed is especially beneficial to farmers. The seed is not of a rare or extra character, but is bought from ordinary dealers in seed. The quantities distributed, while large in the aggregate, are not large enough to any individual to make them very valuable. But they are believed to be very valuable to members of congress by enabling them to make the impression on their constituents that they are always thinking of them.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AN ANTI-VACCINATIONIST.

An Extreme View from One Who Opposes the Principle.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

You are to be commended for your editorials on Dr. Dixon and the vaccination laws of Pennsylvania. Dr. Dixon has, by his actions, changed the character of the position he holds from state board of health to a sort of state board of vaccination.

We who held vaccination to be not only an error of no small magnitude, but also a crime when made compulsory, view with regret the persistence with which some of the medical profession hang to the vile and amply discredited practice, but it is also encouraging to see that more and more of the brightest minds, both medical and lay, are denouncing vaccination because of the incalculable harm done by it.

It is only a matter of time until this medical error will be relegated into nonuse as was done in the case of venesction to which the profession hung for a long time as though its existence depended upon it. But until then a vast amount of harm can be done by strenuous efforts to enforce vaccination laws enacted by stealth or by unwise but zealous advocates.

If your correspondent self-styled "Health Physician" sets his authority above that of the parent, would that he instead of the parent might suffer the irreparable loss when vaccination kills the child. This would cause him to pause and think as it has others, to the end that he would see the evil of the practice which has no valid proof of effectiveness as a preventative of smallpox any more than any other septic poison.

If you can say more along the line that you have already said editorially you will have the gratitude of not a few.

MOORE'S DEATH TROUBLES POLICE

Has Many Bruises on Body and It Is Thought He May Have Been Assaulted.

HIS HOME WAS IN PARNASSUS

Thomas Moore, aged 52, of Parnassus, died at the West Penn hospital at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, evidently from injuries received by being kicked about the abdomen. Moore was picked up by Policeman David Fitzsimmons at noon Wednesday, at Twelfth street and Penn avenue. He appeared to be intoxicated. He was taken to the Penn avenue station house and he fell asleep in his cell. He did not attract any attention until midnight. He awakened and seemed to be in great pain.

The police sent Moore to the hospital, where he was treated for peritonitis until he died. He was bruised about the abdomen and legs and appeared to have been assaulted. A postmortem examination was made and it was found his bladder had been ruptured, while the bruises indicated he had been kicked and trampled. Moore was able to walk to the patrol wagon when taken to the hospital. He told Sergeant Charles Johnston he had a similar attack two years ago. The police were of the opinion he had some organic trouble as they knew nothing of the bruises on his body. At the hospital he became unconscious again.

The coroner and police are trying to learn where Moore was on Wednesday, and whom he was with. Moore had been drinking and this morning the police will canvass the saloons in that district to learn whom he was with. Nobody made any inquiry about him after he was arrested or while he was at the hospital. At the morgue yesterday the body was identified by a friend. Moore was a brother-in-law of Thomas W. Walsh, Jr., vice president of the Second National bank. He was a bookkeeper at Parnassus and is survived by his wife and three children.

George Ammon, aged 53, of Sarah street, South Side, died at Mercy hospital early yesterday from injuries received by being kicked by a horse last Tuesday, at rear of 2223 Fifth avenue. He fell under the horses' feet.

John McAleer, aged 74, a tanner, was found dead in bed yesterday in his room at William Lang's hotel, 153 Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny. It is supposed heart disease caused death.

Mary Yourchic, aged 15 months, of Blair Station, died Saturday from scalds received Saturday afternoon by falling into a tub of hot water.

John Trimble of Boston died at the West Penn hospital yesterday from pneumonia. Saturday night he went to the Penn avenue station house. He said he was sick and asked for lodging. He was so far gone that little could be done for him. At the hospital he said he was an iron molder, aged 42, and that his home was at 6540 Broadway, Boston. He was a widower.

Boleslaw Tereszak was asphyxiated yesterday when he went to sleep on a cinder pile at the Carnegie steel works, Braddock. He was rushed to the Pittsburgh hospital, but died last evening.

AGRARIAN TROUBLES PLANNED IN SPRING

Russia Looks for Uprising of Mujicks Caused by Land Disappointments.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 4.—The expectation in some quarters that the anniversary of the emancipation of the serfs today would be commemorated by an agrarian ukase was not fulfilled. All the newspapers seized the occasion to discuss the peasant question in view of the general anticipation of extensive agrarian troubles in the spring, unanimously agreeing that only legal satisfaction of the land hunger of the Mujicks will prevent an awful Jacquerie.

The conservative journals draw a striking parallel between the carnival of riot which followed the proclamation of civic liberty and the events that succeeded Emperor Alexander's decree of personal freedom to prove that the present political ferment is only incident to the adjustment of the population to a new regime.

Then, as now, they say, the emperor's act was misunderstood. The peasants believed the land with which they were endowed was a free gift, and when they were undeceived jubilation over their freedom turned to anger and was followed by uprisings and riots throughout the empire.

The radical journals like the new situation and paint a sorrowful picture of the unfortunate peasant of the last 40 years bound to the soil, burdened by a debt not yet discharged and subject to the knout. They attribute the miserable condition of the peasants to the incompleteness of emancipation and ask if the Russian people are now condemned to another such period of misery and struggle because the grant of civic liberty is insufficient.

Girls Loot Home of Their Hostess.

YORK, PA., March 4.—(Special.)—Three handsome girls were yesterday held for trial at court on a charge of looting the home of Mrs. Anna M. They were visiting Mrs. Eppley.

TELLS BY THEIR SLEEP

"I can tell by my little ones' sleep when a cold is coming on" said a mother when speaking of the advance symptoms of colds in children. "They toss about, are restless, their breathing is heavy and there are symptoms of night sweats. The next morning I start with Scott's Emulsion. The chances are that in a day or two they are all over it. Their rest is again peaceful and the breathing normal."

Here's a suggestion for all mothers. Scott's Emulsion always has been almost magical in its action when used as the ounce of prevention. Nothing seems to overcome child weakness quite so effectively and quickly as Scott's Emulsion.

Algeciras Conference Shows Germany in Minority—Concessions Are Offered.

RECIPROCAL MOVES PLANNED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ALGECIRAS, March 4.—One of the delegates having vital interest in the conference on Moroccan reforms said tonight that a settlement of the controversy between France and Germany now seemed possible, but he declined to make known the lines the arrangement would take. The trend of recent events indicated that if any settlement is reached it would most likely be because France would make concessions with reference to the bank question and Germany would adopt a less uncompromising attitude concerning the police.

PARIS, March 4.—The voting at Algeciras Saturday on the proposition of Sir Arthur Nicolson, chief of the British delegation, to proceed to the immediate discussion of the Moroccan police question gives great satisfaction, chiefly because France has ranged with her a large majority of the powers, while Germany is among the small minority.

Public tension was such over the Franco-German controversy that the vote was welcomed both as a success and as showing that France was able to count upon the almost unbroken support of Europe. French officials have claimed for some time that if a vote were possible it would give France a sweeping majority.

Yesterday's division did not produce a recorded vote, yet the powers aligned themselves with sufficient precision to amount to a vote, the eight voting in the affirmative being France, Great Britain, Russia, Spain, Portugal, United States, Italy and Holland, and the negative three being Germany, Austria and Morocco.

The result affects the diplomatic status of the controversy. Germany wants to settle the bank question before that of the police, but France does not wish to grant concessions on the bank until she is sure that Germany will make a reciprocal move concerning the police.

The decision of the conference to consider the police question requires that Germany shall say whether she is or is not prepared to change her attitude. Germany's answer will thus determine whether France will yield on the bank question.

The indications are that if Germany refuses to give way on the police, France will not yield on the bank, thus accentuating the former deadlock.

PHYSICIAN KILLS WIFE. THEN SHOOTS HIMSELF

Strikes Woman on Temple With Hammer and Blows His Own Head Off With Rifle.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 4.—Henry L. Whitbeck, a physician and dentist, killed his wife with a hammer today and then blew his brains out with a rifle. Whitbeck walked behind his wife as she was sitting in a rocking chair and struck her a terrific blow on either temple.

Then he left the hammer on a table and walked into the next room where he took up a rifle. Resting the butt on the floor he leaned his forehead against the mouth of the barrel and pulled the trigger. The top of his head was blown off.

Mrs. Whitbeck was taken to a hospital where she died in an hour. She had been an invalid many years. She was about the same age as her husband—45 years. Whitbeck recently had been a patient in a sanitarium.

CHANCE FOR AMERICANS.

Russian Plans for Developments of Northern Manchuria Contemplates Improvements of Vladivostok.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Russia's renewed attempt to establish a permanent foothold in northern Manchuria by making Vladivostok the port of entry, thereby offsetting the loss of Dalny and Port Arthur, is described in an official report to the state department which recently reached Washington from one of the department's agents in China. The report expresses the belief that this will rebound to the development of American trade and will result in a great curtailment of the importance of Shanghai as a distributing point.

As soon as the way to Vladivostok was open there ensued a rush of steamers from Shanghai, Tsingtao, Chefoo, Tsentsin, Nagasaki, Kobe and Yokohama, says the report, and as a consequence the immediate demand for merchandise was soon satisfied. Then came the receipts both at Vladivostok and Harbin, followed by the ice closing the port. These discouraging factors drove many of the traders away, and left a market, which, while well supplied, left the Russians still demanding staples for the natives. In three months northern Manchuria will be eager for that which is now believed to be the beginning of a new era.

SUGGESTION TO PRESIDENT.

German Offers Idea to Have Mr. Roosevelt Visit Kiel in Warship. Return Trip for Kaiser.

BERLIN, March 4.—Prof. Albrecht Wirth of Munich today contributes a signed article on the possibility of President Roosevelt and Emperor William exchanging visits. Prof. Wirth has connections with the foreign office.

"Congressman Nicholas Longworth and Mrs. Longworth are expected in Berlin in May," he says. "This is not the first time that the President's daughter will have represented the United States diplomatically. Her journey to east Asia had official character which was expressed by her accompanying a member of the cabinet.

"President Roosevelt is not permitted to leave American territory, but as an American warship is also American territory, as President Roosevelt has already proved in practice, why cannot the President give another example by visiting Kiel? Emperor William could then choose a return visit of the same form."

GLENN AND GRENET MEET.

It Is Said They Are Going Through Allegheny Payroll.

Samuel J. Grenet, who will likely be appointed director of public safety of Allegheny under Mayor Charles F. Kirschler, had a long conference yesterday afternoon with Acting Superintendent John Glenn of the bureau of police. The two remained in Glenn's office during most of the afternoon, and the door was locked all the time. When they parted neither had anything to say regarding the topic of their conversation.

In view of the repeated predictions that Grenet is to be chief of the safety department it is believed the two were going over the payrolls of the department for the purpose of giving Grenet an idea of the name and location of the police and firemen who are to be let out, and who are to be retained. It is understood that Mr. Kirschler is determined to get rid of a large number of those at present on the payroll and it is said to be significant of Glenn's retention that he is being taken into the confidence of the prospective safety chief.

DUQUESNE BEER IS GOOD

Our oft-repeated declaration that "Duquesne Beer is an agent of true temperance" is upheld by the most enlightened of people.

The following statement comes from the pen of Dr. Andrew D. White, former Minister to Germany and Russia:

"The best temperance workers among us that I know are the brewers of light pure beer." (White Autobiography, Page 519.)

Duquesne beer contains about 3½ per cent. alcohol, which is turned straightway into physical and mental energy.

Of all the food-beverages known to man, Duquesne beer is one of the most nourishing.

RURAL OFFICERS EASY FOR CROOKS

County Detectives Would Prevent Many Robberies If Notified of Strangers' Presence.

OLD MEN POOR GUARDIANS

"Safe blowers and burglars can easily evade the county detectives," said County Detective John Englert, yesterday. "Had the county detectives received any assistance from the borough police and constables last week the men who cracked the safe in Mt. Oliver and robbed the houses at Oakmont would have been captured before they had a chance to commit their depredations.

"The afternoon previous to the Mt. Oliver safe robbery strange men were seen there by the constable and police. Now, if those officers had notified the county detective bureau that suspicious characters were in the town, detectives could have been detailed to make an investigation. Instead of that, the county detectives heard nothing of the presence of the burglars until after they had committed their robberies and fled. Had those officers notified us about the strange and suspicious looking men who were in Oakmont and Mt. Oliver, those robberies might have been prevented. The constables and borough police could do much toward assisting the county detectives in checking safe blowers and burglars.

Not Supposed to Know Crooks.

"It is not supposed they should know thieves and burglars like the officers of the district attorney's office, as they do not come in contact with them as frequently as the county detectives do; but when they see strangers in their borough or township who appear suspicious, they can send out a warning to the district attorney's office and these suspects can be arrested or investigated. The county detectives cannot be everywhere. There are but a few of us, but if we received any assistance from constables and borough police, safe blowers and burglars would be caught.

"Another great mistake made by residents of boroughs is selecting old men as officers of the peace. As soon as a man gets up in years the general opinion prevails that he would make a good night watchman or peace officer. That is a great error. When a man reaches the senile period of life he is not able to cope with burglars, physically or mentally. Why, what would a safe cracker do if he were confronted by one of these old officers? Simply toss him aside and go on with the crime. Now, if a young, strong fellow is selected as country police officer, watchman or constable, the chances are a thief or burglar will think a second time before taking chances with him.

Rural Officers Too Old.

"In almost every borough or township we find the officers to be too old to serve in that capacity. A man who has reached 50 cannot fight or defend himself like a man of 30. Even should an old officer find a burglar at work, he is not physically able to arrest or pursue him. A young, active man is much better able to protect the homes of the country residents. It was a custom in England 400 years ago to make town watchmen of men who were too old to do anything else, and the world has not improved much in this respect. You will notice that in our city and country banks old, tottering men are selected as night watchmen. It is a crime to think what a mob of thieves would do to a feeble officer like that.

"Last week we were patrolling some of the county districts, hoping to confront burglars or safe blowers, when we met a number of country policemen. They did not know us, and what is more, they were not careful or thoughtful enough to stop us and learn our identity. When strange persons appear in a suburb, and the officer doubts their character, he should notify the county detective bureau."

"PAT" DOLAN DEPOSES PRESIDENT MITCHELL

Informs Him That He Is No Longer the Head of National Organization.

Patrick Dolan, the deposed president of the local district of United Mine Workers of America, yesterday "officially" notified John Mitchell that he was no longer national president of the organization.

"He took it upon himself to remove me and appoint a committee to take charge of the district, and I have the same right," said Dolan last night. "I wrote him a letter notifying him that he was no longer president because he had violated the constitution, and I named a committee to take charge of the affairs of the national organization. On this committee I named James Clark, Frank Feehan, Stephen Wetzel, Tim Donovan and James Watchron, and they will also take charge of the duties of the national executive board, all of whom I have also declared out of office. I wrote Mitchell to that effect today.

"The full sarcasm of Dolan's move can be better appreciated when the fact is known that the committee named by him to take charge of Mitchell's duty is the same committee which conferred with Mitchell regarding Dolan's case, and which is working day and night to oust him out of the local district. They are his worst enemies.

"I also informed Mr. Mitchell," said Dolan, "that National Secretary W. B. Wilson can remain in charge of his office until his successor is named." This, of course, is in imitation of Mitchell's decision to permit Secretary William Dodds of this district to remain in office until his successor is appointed.

"Reports are being circulated from national headquarters," said Dolan, "that I will not be permitted to attend the convention hall and be heard. Reports are being circulated from national headquarters," said Dolan, "that I will not be permitted to attend the convention hall and be heard."

KING AND PRESIDENT EXCHANGE GREETINGS

Edward Spends Busy Day in Paris and Is Well Received by Crowds.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PARIS, March 4.—King Edward's visit is attracting great attention, enormous crowds cheering his every appearance. The cordiality of the greetings between the king and President Fallieres during his majesty's official call at the Elysee palace, was much remarked. The conversation lasted half an hour.

Later the president returned the call at the British embassy, where a state dinner was held this evening, at which President Fallieres and Premier Rouvier, with their wives, were among the guests. There were no speeches. Afterward King Edward, President Fallieres and M. Rouvier conversed for nearly an hour.

During the day former Presidents Loubet and Casimir-Perier left their cards at the British embassy. The king invited M. Loubet to dinner Monday.

The Princesses Beatrice and Ena of Battenberg, who lunched with King Edward today, will leave for Biarritz Monday, where they will await the king's arrival. Later an interview between the kings of England and Spain will occur there, at which official consent to the marriage of Princess Ena to King Alfonso will be given.

PREPARE FOR GRAND OPERA.

Extra Box Office to Be Installed for Public Sale and Stage Alterations Begin This Week.

Announcement was made yesterday that the public sale of seats for the engagement of the Conried Metropolitan Opera Company at the Nixon theater for the week beginning March 26, will open next Monday morning and continue until the end of the engagement. A special box office will be erected for the purpose of accommodating the public. Four days remain for subscribers to the entire series of productions during grand opera week to make their reservations.

On March 18 the company will leave New York for its second trans-continental tour, stopping in Baltimore for four performances and in Washington for an equal number of productions, then coming to this city for a week. The advance guard of the Conried working forces will arrive here the latter part of this week and will begin to prepare the way for the productions. The alterations necessary for the production of "The Queen of Sheba" are so extensive as to require much preliminary preparation as the spectacle is probably the most elaborate ever attempted in grand opera.

"The Man on the Box."

Henry E. Dixey in "The Man on the Box" is the latest and greatest of the successes which Walter N. Lawrence has produced since he became the manager of the Madison Square theater, New York. "The Man on the Box" will be the attraction at the Bijou next week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Seats will be on sale Thursday, March 8.

FOREIGNERS DRAG SAFE TO SAFETY

Fire Breaks Out in House of All Nations and a Genuine Spectacle Ensues.

HARD WORK FOR THE FIREMEN

Fire broke out yesterday in 2918 Carson street, known as the "house of all nations." The name was given it because it is occupied by 27 families representing the Polish, Hungarian, Servian, Austrian, Slavish, Croatian, Lithuanian and Grecian nationalities. The blaze started in the clothing store of Teodoro Jakish, first floor, and was first noticed by eight men who were sleeping in the room above. They spread the alarm, and the evacuation began.

Meanwhile the firemen arrived to find that they had to fight their way over trunks and household furniture before they could hope to put out the flames. After this was accomplished the fire was soon extinguished, the damage being about $900.

The feature of the spectacle was the daring rescue of a safe from the store of Jakish. The safe was a huge affair of ancient pattern and weighed fully a ton. But it contained the savings of quite a few of the families, and when it became known that it was in the building volunteers were asked to bring it out. About 20 husky foreigners responded. They rushed in where the flames were thickest, at a great risk to themselves, and soon had the safe on the sidewalk.

But after the fire was out and the excitement had subsided, Jakish faced a gloomy prospect. The pair of steps in front of the store did not prove a very serious obstacle when the safe was brought out. But the excitable strength of the moment had died down when the return was tried, and it was found impossible to get it back into the building. As the safe movers do not work on Sunday the only thing to do was to allow it to stand outside over night.

Because of the safe blowers who operated in the suburbs last week, this caused alarm among the foreigners, and a telephone message was sent to the South Side police station asking that the police watch it during the night. When told that this was impossible, several of the men decided to stay up to protect it, and so kept their lonely vigil all last night.

Dieffenbach of the Church of the Ascension, Allegheny, has consented to deliver an address on "The Actor as a Man."

LIQUIDATING MARKET SEEMS HERE TO STAY

Reasonableness of Present Decline Is Evident from New York Standpoint—Speculators Are Probably Only Ones Who Are Suffering.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 4.—Associated as government relief has always been with panicky conditions, and possibly not understanding Secretary Shaw's ruling that national banks are constructively the treasury in part, may explain the action of the market on the announcement of government relief. The illusive feature of aid thus accorded is that the corrective influences of liquidation are apt to be temporarily stayed. The markets immediately adapt themselves to the new credits granted against the new money supplies.

Some short-sighted persons may feel that government aid is inexhaustible, and start into buy and trade and speculate again, as some did in September, 1902. Others who realize the true source of disturbance in over-trading and over-extended credit, will use such improvement, if it comes, for the purpose of completing their liquidation. This is what some "big men," but not all, did in 1902.

In the end, unless money supplies are recruited from elsewhere, the liquidation starts afresh. Through liquidation in the stock market or by severe business contraction, can a community correct the evils arising out of an overextension of credit.

Value of Stocks.

Paradoxical as it may appear, as prices declined under liquidation and short selling during the week, stocks improved in value. This may not be a comforting thought to over-extended bullish speculators who have lost by the declines, or who are hanging on the ragged edge hoping for some upward swing in prices which will enable them to get out with only a small loss, or with, perhaps, some profit. Nevertheless securities, the value of which, if they have present value, is determined by the income yield, as reviewed from the investor's standpoint, improve as they decline, for the lower they go while their yield remains the same, the more they return in the percentage of dividend or interest based upon the purchase money.

In calling attention to this seeming paradox, the fact is not overlooked that some securities have a prospective value, although possible increases of dividends, or developments of one nature or another which render it difficult to gauge the values, solely by the prevailing selling price, the going rate of money and the present amount of dividends or interests that they return.

No Hope for the Broker.

All that is well enough in its way, but it does not concern the speculative holder, who is carrying more securities than he ought to upon margins, as it does the real holder who has paid cash for them. The speculator may be perfectly right in his belief of future development, or increased disbursements, but that does not help him at all if his funds are gone, his credit exhausted and he is sold out.

No one can determine this question of price and value precisely any more than one can determine the value of unimproved property. It is determined by many considerations, not one or a few, and it cannot be determined for every member of the community at any given time. But in a general way, whether purchased with an expectation of enhancement, through increased dividends or important impending development, the cheaper the price at which one can buy them for cash, the greater the profit and the better the results in the end.

If securities so bought are used as a basis of credit and the price declines, quite naturally the purchaser does not receive all the benefits of the other. A temporary decline will reduce the value of the security as collateral and this alone or in combination with other influences, may deprive a person of the full benefits of his bargain. That is another matter, however.

Differing Principles.

The horizon of the average speculator is apparently most limited. It does not seem strange that they can only see improvement in high and still higher prices. Business men who knew the merchant's maxim that "goods well bought are half sold," act as though the buying and selling of securities were a thing apart from the principles governing the buying and selling of four-yard sheeting, standard prints or any other articles.

They know of their own experience that to buy these cheap is good business, and they haggle over price and terms and "dating" to reduce the cost to the lowest notch. Yet when they turn their attention to stock they appear to want to buy them when all the reckless crew in the market are paying high prices for them. When these same securities are declining, becoming more valuable, as gauged by income yield, more attractive because they are cheaper, there is great despondence over the occurrence.

Liquidating Markets.

The time to warn men against speculative markets is when prices are going up, when, by the aid of manipulation, with recourse to misleading stories and all the cheap devices and deceptions known to the game, they are being artificially advanced above immediate value or prospective value within the near future. The time to encourage any unfortunate person caught in the meshes of the net spread openly for the unwary is when stocks are going down, when they are, by degrees, drawing closer to value.

No one can actually determine the top of the market, and no one but a fool can expect to buy at the lowest eighth. But all men may grasp the simple principle that the higher prices advance the more dangerous the market becomes, while on the inevitable decline which follows excessive speculation, stocks improve the lower they go, with each point or so down they are one point or so nearer bottom.

Unquestionably Wall street looks as though it were in for a liquidating market, which may continue for some time yet to come, influencing a lower range of prices for most things than even now prevail.

FAILURES LOOKED FOR ON LONDON EXCHANGE

Continued Depression and Baleful Influence of Mining Shares on the Market Are Responsible.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LONDON, March 4.—Every department of the stock exchange for the last week has been in a state of depression, caused by the heavy fall in South African mining shares. Though there was a slight recovery at the end of the week, the losses were heavy, and it is feared that in consequence there may be some failures of stock exchange men, due to the inability of clients to pay their differences.

It is, however, not quite so certain as rumors would lead some to believe. One cannot help remembering how confidently difficulties were predicted during the last state of things until the market has been purged of a few weak speculators who still encumber the ground.

Fortunately, the account open for the rise was considerably reduced a long time ago, so that, while differences are heavy debtors are not very numerous. It is beyond question also that a good deal of the fall is due to bear selling.

After a while it is to be anticipated that the rest of the market will seperate itself from the mining department and that other departments will then move according to influences acting specially for each.

Other departments of the stock exchange, though to a considerable extent affected by the South African debacle, are not at all cheerless. Consols and all the better class of investment stocks, including Home railway prior charges, have been very well bought throughout the week, thus proving that the public has not only money but inclination to employ it.

Business in the home railway market during the week consisted for the most part of a little buying by investors genuinely attracted by the low level of prices, and of a great deal of liquidation of stale bull accounts, especially in heavy stocks.

When prices of home rails do move, there is plenty of money to be made in the market, but in dull times charges for continuations are simply killing, as many operators who have left the market in disgust, have learned to their cost.

In the American railway market prices all down the list are, on balance, substantially lower. Fortunately London commitments in Americans are now of the smallest possible dimensions, so that the shrinkage in values is hardly likely to add seriously to the troubles of domestic origin at next week's settlement.

In a quiet way there has been quite a fair amount of activity in the miscellaneous mining market of late, and it is noted that most of the ventures which have come to the front are domiciled in other countries than this. The obvious explanation of this movement is that as confidence in enterprises conducted under the British flag has been undermined by an administration avowedly hostile to monied interests, investors have been forced to turn in other directions, where they are assured fairer treatment.

PRICES FOR SEEDS PROMISE TO BE HIGH

Time at Hand for Spring Buying. Good Demand Is Made for Young Onions.

Attention is now being directed to the seed market, as the season is nearly here for the planting. The clover seed market has been wild and erratic for the past 10 days. A short time ago the highest point in years was reached by reclaimed western clover, namely, $9.25 per bushel. At present, however, it is somewhat easier and lower. Prices are not likely to go much lower as the farmers will soon have to start buying. There will hardly be a drop until after all seeding is done. Timothy is a little easier but in good demand.

Trading on the produce market Saturday was just fair, but the merchants rarely expect much on the last day of the week except early in the morning. There are a number of articles of produce which are in good demand. Apples, for instance, are commanding top-notch prices, and even grades not considered the best quality are often disposed of at figures higher than the outside quotation. The general run of those on the market, however, is good, and with the scarcity of the supply the purchaser is no doubt receiving a bargain.

Green stuff of all kinds was in good demand during the entire week. Young onions were popular and several large stocks were disposed of. The recent advance is being easily sustained despite the fact the goods offered are of just medium quality.

There has been no recent change in the fresh egg quotations but, as has been noted, a number of merchants are not quoting storage eggs at all.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined Saturday were: Pennsylvania, 15 hay, 4 corn, 4 feed, 3 oats, 1 straw. Baltimore & Ohio, 14 hay, 2 oats, 1 corn, 1 straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 hay.

No change in prices was noted Saturday.

Receipts during the week have been in excess of demand. Some of the surplus was worked off during the close of the week, and receipts are not expected to be so heavy during the current week as prices are too low. Buyers are realizing that fact and are stocking up accordingly.

Buy Worley at 25c

"If I had only bought Le Roi stock at 10c, or Tonopah Extension at 40c!"

Thousands of people are saying that to-day—You no doubt know of many of them personally—Le Roi is worth $50 a share now and Tonopah sold yesterday at $11.50—

But what's the use of worrying over what might have been—If one good opportunity is lost the thing to do is to see to it that the next doesn't get by—The man who accomplishes things is the man who acts quickly—

Worley mine has twice the value of either Le Roi or Tonopah at the same stage of development, and is located in the same district, yet the stock sells to-day at 25c per share—par value $1.00—

It is being developed rapidly—From a test run of ore it showed a value of $15 to $50 per ton, 80 per cent of which is free milling—

The property is all paid for and the title is perfect—

The opportunity is here to-day—now. Don't you be among those who, a little later, will be complaining because they didn't buy Worley at 25c—

Easy payments if you wish—write, call or phone for full information—

The Colonial Endowment Contract Guarantees Interest Rate for Long Periods.

This is the only way that you can surely plan for a given sum, due in 5, 10, 15 or 20 years, because it is the only method of receiving an interest rate guaranteed not to change for twenty years. Buy a Colonial Endowment Contract, by paying $34.20 a year for 20 years, then withdraw $1,000 cash. Payments can be stopped any time, contract surrendered and money withdrawn, by giving proper notice. Any sum, in even thousands, can be contracted for at proportionate rates.

IN PERIL OF HIS LIFE

BY EMILE GABORIAU

Author of "THE MYSTERY OF ORCIVAL," "FILE NO. 113," Etc.

Nevertheless, they spent a part of the night in going over all the papers carefully, and in studying every point made by the prosecution. Next morning, about 9 o'clock, having had only a few hours' sleep, they went together to the prison.

The night before, the jailer had said to his wife, at supper, "I am tired of the life I am leading here. They have paid me for my place, haven't they? Well, I mean to go." "You are a fool!" his wife had replied. "As long as M. de Boiscoran is a prisoner, there is a chance of profit. You don't know how rich those Chandores are. You ought to stay."

Like many other husbands, Blangin fancied he was master in his own house. He remonstrated. He swore enough to make the ceiling fall down upon him. He even appealed to the strength of his arm, and yet, notwithstanding all this, Madame Blangin having decided that he should stay, he did stay. Sitting in front of the jail, and absorbed in the most dismal thoughts, he was smoking his pipe, when M. Magloire and M. Folgat appeared at the prison gate, and handed him M. Galpin's order for admission. He rose as they approached, for he was afraid of them, not knowing whether they were in Denise's secret or not. He therefore politely doffed his worsted cap, took his pipe from his mouth, and said, "Ah! You come to see M. de Boiscoran, gentlemen. I will show you in; just give me time to go for my keys."

M. Magloire held him back. "First of all," he said, "how is M. de Boiscoran?"

"Only so-so," replied the jailer.

"What's the matter?"

"Why, what is the matter with all the prisoners when they see that things are likely to turn out bad for them?"

The two lawyers looked at each other sadly. It was clear that Blangin thought Jacques guilty, and that was a bad omen. Those who guard prisoners have generally a keen scent; and not unfrequently lawyers consult them, very much as an author consults the actors of the theater at which his piece is to appear. "Has he told you anything?" asked M. Folgat.

"Personally, I have heard nothing," replied the jailer. And, shaking his head, he added—"But you know we have our experience. After a prisoner has been with his counsel, I generally go to see him, to offer him something—some little trifle to set him right again. So, yesterday, after M. Magloire had been here, I went to M. de Boiscoran's cell and found him in a pitiful condition. He was lying on his bed, his head on the pillow, as stiff as a corpse. It was some time before he heard me. I shook my keys, stamped and coughed. No use. As I was growing frightened, I went up to him, and took him by the shoulder. 'Eh, sir!' said I. Good heaven! he sprang up as if shot, and exclaimed, 'What do you want?' Of course, I tried to console him, to explain to him that he ought to speak out, that is is rather unpleasant to appear in court, but that people don't die of it; that they even came out of it as white as snow, if they have a good advocate. But I might just as well have been singing. The more I talked, the fiercer he looked, and at last he cried, without letting me finish, 'Get out, get out! Leave me!'"

Blangin paused a moment to take a whiff at his pipe; but it had gone out; accordingly he put it in his pocket, and then continued—"I might have told him that I had a right to come into the cells whenever I liked, and to stay there as long as it pleases me. But prisoners are like children: you must not worry them. Ah, gentlemen, I have been here 20 years, and I never saw and despair like this young man's. He had jumped up as soon as I turned my back, and was walking up and down, sobbing aloud. He looked as pale as death; and big tears were running down his cheeks."

M. Magloire felt pained at listening to each one of these details. His opinion had not materially changed since the day before, but he had had time to reflect, and to reproach himself for his harshness.

"I was at my post for an hour at least," continued the jailer, "when all of a sudden M. de Boiscoran throws himself against the door, and begins to knock at it with his feet, and to call as loud as he can. I keep him waiting a little while, so that he should not know I was so near by, and then I open, pretending to have hurried up ever so fast. As soon as I show myself he says, 'I have the right to receive visitors, haven't I?' And nobody has been to see me?'—'No one.'—'No one!' 'Are you sure?'—'Quite sure.' I thought I had killed him. He put his hands to his forehead like this; and then he said, 'No one!—no mother, no betrothed, no friend! Well, it is all over! I am no longer in existence. I am forgotten, abandoned, disowned.' He said this in a voice, that would have drawn tears from a stone; whereupon I suggested to him to write a letter, which I would send to M. de Chandore. But he at once became furious again, and cried, 'No, never! go away! There is nothing left for me but death.'"

M. Folgat had not uttered a word; but his pallor betrayed his emotion.

"You will understand, gentlemen," continued Blangin, "that I did not feel quite satisfied. The cell in which M. de Boiscoran is staying has a bad reputation. Since it have been at Sauveterre, one man has killed himself in it, and another has tried to commit suicide. So I called Frumence Chenilcot, a poor vagrant who assists me in the jail, and we arranged that one of us would always be on guard, never losing sight of the prisoner for a moment. But it was a useless precaution. At night, when M. de Boiscoran's supper was brought him, he was perfectly calm again; and he even said he would try to eat something to keep up his strength. Poor fellow! If he has no other strength than what his meal gave him, he won't go far. He had not swallowed four mouthfuls, when he almost choked; and at one time Frumence and I thought he would die on our hands. I almost thought it might be fortunate. However, at about 9 o'clock he got a little better, and remained all night long sitting by the window."

M. Magloire could not stand it longer. "Let us go up," he said to his colleague. They entered, and as they reached the passage conducting to Jacques' cell, they noticed Frumence, who made them a sign to step lightly. "What is the matter?" they asked in an undertone.

"I believe he is asleep," replied the vagrant. "Poor fellow! Who knows but what he dreams he is free, at home in his chateau!"

M. Folgat walked on tiptoe toward the door, but Jacques was already awake, the noise of the footsteps and the voices having disturbed his agitated slumber. Blangin opened, and at once M. Magloire stepped forward, and speaking to the prisoner, exclaimed, "I bring you reinforcements—M. Folgat, my colleague, who has come down from Paris with your mother."

Coolly, and without saying a word, M. de Boiscoran bowed.

"I see you are angry with me," continued M. Magloire. "I was too quick yesterday, much too quick."

Jacques shook his head, and in an icy tone replied, "I on my side was angry; but I have reflected since, and now I thank you for your candor. At least, I know my fate. Innocent though I be, if I go into court, I shall be condemned as an incendiary and a murderer. I prefer not going into court at all."

"My poor fellow! all hope is not lost."

"Yes, it is. Who would believe me, if you, my friend, cannot believe me?"

"I would," said M. Folgat, promptly.

"I, who, without knowing you, have from the beginning believed in your innocence—I who, now that I have seen you, adhere to my conviction."

Quicker than thought, M. de Boiscoran seized the young advocate's hand, and, pressing it convulsively—"Thanks, oh, thanks for that word alone!" he cried, "I thank you, sir, for the faith you have in me!"

This was the first time, since his arrest, that the unfortunate fellow felt a ray of hope. Alas! it died away in a second. His eyes became dim again; a cloud resettled on his brow, and he said, in a hoarse voice: "Unfortunately, nothing can be done for me now. No doubt M. Magloire has told you my sad history and my statement. I have no proof; or, at least, to furnish proof, I should have to enter into details which the court would refuse to admit; or, if by a miracle they were admitted, I should be ruined forever by them. There are confidences which cannot be spoken of, secrets which cannot be revealed, veils which must not be lifted. It is better to be condemned innocent than to be acquitted infamous and dishonored. Gentlemen, I decline being defended."

What was his desperate purpose that he should have come to such a decision? His counsel trembled, thinking they guessed it. "You have no right to give yourself up," said M. Folgat.

"Why not?"

"Because you are not alone in your trouble, sir. Because you have relations, friends and——"

A bitter, ironical smile crossed Jacques de Boiscoran's lips, as he rejoined, "What do I owe them, if they have not even the courage to wait until sentence is pronounced before they condemn me? Their merciless verdict has actually anticipated that of the jury. It is to an unknown person, to you, M. Folgat, that I am indebted for the first expression of sympathy."

"Ah, that is not so," exclaimed M. Magloire, "you know very well."

But Jacques seemed not to hear him. "Friends!" he went on. "Oh, yes! I had friends in my days of prosperity. There was M. Galpin-Daveline and M. Daubigeon; they were my friends. One has become my judge, the most cruel and pitiless of judges; and the other, who is public prosecutor, has not even made an effort to come to my assistance. M. Magloire also used to be a friend of mine, and told me a hundred times that I could count upon him as I counted upon myself, and that was my reason in choosing him as my counsel; yet, when I endeavored to convince him of my innocence, he told me I lied!"

Once more the eminent advocate of Sauveterre tried to protest; but it was in vain.

"Relations!" continued Jacques, in a voice trembling with indignation, "oh, yes! I have relations, a father and a mother. Where are they when their son, victimized by unheard-of fatality, is struggling in the meshes of a most odious and infamous plot? My father stays quietly in Paris, devoted to his pursuits and usual pleasures. My mother has come down to Sauveterre. She is here now; and she has been told that I am at liberty to receive visitors; but in vain! I was hoping for her yesterday; but the wretch who is accused of a crime is no longer her son! She never came. No one came. Henceforth I stand alone in the world; and now you see why I have a right to dispose of myself."

M. Folgat did not think for a moment of discussing the point. It would have been useless. Despair never reasons. He merely observed, "You forget Mademoiselle de Chandore, sir."

Jacques turned crimson, and murmured, trembling in all his limbs, "Denise!"

"Yes, Denise," said the young advocate. "You forget her courage, her devotion, and all she has done for you. Can you say that she abandoned you—she who set aside all her maidenly reserve and timidity for your sake, she who came and spent a whole night in this prison! She was risking nothing less than her million honor, for she might have been discovered or betrayed. She knew it very well, and yet she did not hesitate."

"Ah! you are cruel, sir," broke in Jacques. And, pressing the lawyer's arm, he added, "And do you not understand that her memory kills me, and that my misery is all the greater, as I know but too well what bliss I am losing? Do you not see that I love Denise as woman never was loved before? Ah, if my life alone were at stake! I, at least, I have to make amends for a great wrong; but she—great God, why did I ever cross her path?" He remained for a moment buried in thought; then he continued once more, "and yet she, too, did not come yesterday. Why? Oh! no doubt they have told her all. They have told her how I came to be at Valpinson the night of the crime."

EARLY SPRING STREET SUIT FROM MODEL MADE IN PARIS

A smart spring model is that shown in the illustration. The brown cloth coat is made in the empire style, the skirt being long and full, but not plaited to correspond. The model is from Le Moniteur de la Mode.

Skulls for Street Paving.

While Londoners are still undecided as to which is the best of the many sorts of street paving, the inhabitants of Gwandu, in Africa, have settled the matter to their own satisfaction by using the skulls of their enemies for paving the approaches to their town.

Over twelve thousand skulls have been used on the roads leading to the various gates, and, polished and bleached as they are by the friction of countless feet and the effect of the sun and air, they are said to have the appearance of ivory.

When a new pavement is needed there is no bother and scandal about contracts, says Home Chat. All that is necessary is to declare war on some neighboring tribe, for then the roads are repaired, as a matter of course!

A Silent Author.

Mr. J. M. Barrie, the author of "Peter Pan," is not at all fond of talking, but is silent and reserved with strangers. It is related of him that at a public dinner he turned to his neighbor and remarked, "Do you feel like talking?" "No," was the brief reply, says Home Chat.

"Neither do I," said Barrie, and forthwith they gave one another the cold shoulder.

Layer Cakes With Different Fillings.

Layer cakes may be made of either sponge cake or butter cake mixtures, according to the filling that is to be used. In making either kind have all your ingredients and utensils ready before commencing operations. Use only the best butter and eggs, the latter cooled by keeping in an ice chest or in cold water. The flour should be the fine pastry flour, and sifted before using. If cold, it may be warmed slightly. The sugar should be fine, the spices pure. Cakes made with butter require long and vigorous beating after the flour is added that they may be fine grained. Sponge cakes should not be beaten after adding the flour. Both flour and the whites of eggs that have been beaten until stiff and dry should be folded in, not stirred. All cake batters should be baked as soon as possible after mixing. For most cakes the oven should be of moderate, steady heat. Cake is baked enough when it shrinks from the pan. Never move a cake until the center is thoroughly set, and in watching the cake open and shut the oven door as gently and quickly as possible. Grease the tins with sweet lard rather than butter, and sift a little dry flour over the bottom.

Sponge Cake Foundation.

Beat the yolks of three eggs until lemon colored and thick; add a cupful and a half of sugar, a half cupful of cold water and a teaspoonful of lemon juice or extract. Have ready two cupfuls of flour that has been sifted, with one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and half a teaspoonful of soda; fold in lightly, adding at the last the whites of three eggs beaten stiff. Bake in round, shallow pans.

Simple Butter Cake Mixture.

Cream together quarter of a cupful of butter and a half cupful of sugar; add one well beaten egg, one-half cupful of milk and one and a half cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix, flavor to taste, spread thinly on tins and bake.

Richer Layer Cake Mixture.

Beat to a cream one cupful of butter and two cupfuls of fine granulated sugar; add five egg yolks, well beaten and a good grating of nutmeg. Sift together two and a half cupfuls of pastry flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a half teaspoonful of soda; then stir in with the butter and sugar mixture, alternating with one scant cupful of milk. Beat the whites of three eggs stiff on a platter and fold in at the last. Bake in three layers. This is especially good for chocolate filling.

Sour Cream Filling.

Whip very sour cream until stiff; add a cup and a half of English walnuts or hickory nuts, chopped to a powder, sweeten to taste and flavor lightly with vanilla. This is extremely nice, and more over a novelty.

Chocolate Filling.

Beat the whites of the two eggs left from the batter until stiff, adding to them one cup of powdered sugar, or enough to make the frosting quite stiff. Add one square of chocolate that has been melted. Spread the tops of two of the cakes with a thin layer of acid jelly, such as currant, plum or grape, then put the cakes together with the chocolate frosting. Spread the top with some of the frosting. This cake keeps well if put in a tin box and covered.

Chocolate Filling No. 2.

Boil one cup fine granulated sugar with one-third cup of hot water until it spins a thread. Have ready the white of one egg beaten stiff with one-eighth teaspoonful cream of tartar. Pour the boiling syrup slowly into the egg, beating steadily until thick enough to spread. Add two tablespoonfuls powdered cocoa or chocolate, while the syrup is still hot, and the last thing add two tablespoonfuls whipped cream, if you wish it extra nice. Spread between the layers and on top and sides of cake.

Orange Filling.

Beat one egg thoroughly, and add one scant cupful sugar with which one large tablespoonful of cornstarch has been mixed by sifting. Add the grated yellow rind and juice of an orange, and the juice of half a lemon. Mix thoroughly and pour over the mixture one cupful boiling water. Cook, stirring all the time until it thickens slightly. Cool before using.

Maple Cream Filling.

Put into a saucepan a cupful grated maple sugar and a half cup milk. Cook until thick; add a tablespoonful of butter, then cool and beat. At first it may look as if it was going to curdle, but it will grow smooth in the beating. Do not let it boil long enough to candy, but only until it forms a soft, thick mass when a spoonful is dropped into cold water.

Mocha Filling.

Cook together one cup cream, two-thirds of a cup of sugar, and a heaping tablespoonful of butter. As soon as it threads remove from the fire; add quarter of a cup of strong coffee and cool before spreading.

Mutton Chop Pie.

An attractive variation of the usual meat pie may be made as follows: Select two pounds of rib chops, trim by cutting away skin, fat and two inches of the rib bone. With this refuse make a gravy by cooking slowly three hours in just enough water to cover. Let the liquor cool, skim well, season highly and thicken well with browned flour. Boil up once and again let cool. Arrange the chops on the bottom of a bake dish, so that they will overlap one another. Fill the central space with chopped mushrooms, a chopped tomato, six small button onions and a pint of green peas. Pour in the gravy, cover with a good crust, make a slit in the middle and bake, covered half an hour, then brown.

This makes an excellent luncheon dish. If veal or chicken is preferred results will be equally satisfactory.

DAN DAUGHERTY IS AT WAYNESBURG

W. & J. Star Halfback "Busted" Out of College—Shadyside Records.

FROM THE OTHER PLACES

Dan Daugherty, the former Pittsburgh college baseball player, has left Washington and Jefferson and entered Waynesburg College. He left W. and J. because he was absent from college too often to suit the faculty.

He played a great game at half back last fall on the football team and was regarded as one of the very best developed by Coach Piekarski. He was counted as a secondbase possibility for the nine this spring.

The records of the players of the first two teams in the Shadyside Academy inter-class basketball championship race, on throwing goals, follows:

SIXTH FORM, B DIVISION.

At Boston Saturday, Phillips Exeter won the seventeenth annual indoor championship meet of the New England Interscholastic Athletic association. The winning team scored 36½ points. Worcester academy was second, with 19 points. No athletes from Phillips Andover were entered.

The feature of the meet was the relay race between Exeter and the Volkmann school of Boston. The latter made a new indoor interscholastic record for 1,500 yards of 3 minutes 12 2-5 seconds.

Exeter's time was 3 minutes 14 1-5 seconds, equaling the previous record, which was established by Volkmann school at the Boston Athletic association games last year.

The sophomores won the annual sophomore-freshman indoor track meet Saturday night at Michigan by a score of 50 1-3 to 38 2-3. Wesley Coe, the champion shot-putter, who is a freshman, did not compete and "Octy" Graham, the football player, won the event for the sophomores by tossing the sphere 37 feet 8 inches.

No records were broken and the score was just about what had been prophesied by the dopesters, the only surprise being Cox's defeat in the high jump by Adams, a freshman. Adams did 5 feet 10 inches and Cox could not duplicate the performance. Summaries:

Shot put—First, Graham, sophomore; second, Embs, sophomore; third, Clark, freshman. Distance, 37 feet 8 inches.

Forty-yard dash—First, Bowman, freshman; second, Ovitz, sophomore; third, Clark, freshman. Time, 4 4-5 seconds.

Forty-yard low hurdles—First, Shaw, sophomore, and Cotton, freshman, tied; third, Post, sophomore. Time, 5 3-5 seconds.

Forty-yard high hurdles—First, Shaw, sophomore; second, Malcolmson, freshman; third, Post, sophomore. Time, 5 3-5 seconds.

Pole vault—First, Bishop, freshman; second, Marker, freshman; third, Hotchkiss, sophomore, and Wierengo, freshman. Height, 10 feet 6 inches.

Three-lap race—First, Shenk, sophomore; second, Livingston, freshman; third, Baldwin, sophomore. Time, 49 seconds.

High jump—First, Adams, freshman; second, Cox, sophomore; Ferris, freshman, and Rickstraw, sophomore, tied. Height, 5 feet 10 inches.

Six-lap race—First, Waldeck, sophomore; second, Richardson, sophomore; third, Eldridge, freshman. Time, 1 minutes 46 2-5 seconds.

Nine-lap race—First, Dull, sophomore; second, Maloney, sophomore; third, West, freshman. Time, 3 minutes 33 seconds.

Relay won by freshman team.

The interscholastic individual and team golf championships will be held this year on May 17 18 and 19 over the links of the Garden City Golf club, under the auspices of St. Paul's school. Clifford A. Dunning is captain of the St. Paul's school team this year. Dwight Partridge is the present interscholastic champion.

The Harvard fencers won the triangular fencing meet between Harvard, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of Pennsylvania, in the Technology "gym" at Cambridge, Saturday evening, winning 13 out of 18 bouts. Technology was second, with 9 wins, while Pennsylvania was last, with 5 victories.

The best fencing of the evening was done by J. Lage of Technology, who won all his six bouts. Lage had to fight an extra period of two minutes with both Bowman and Tyng of Harvard, before he could claim a victory. The individual scores follow:

Harvard—W. L. Bowman, 5; A. Tyng, 4; W. MacLeod, 4.

Technology—J. Lage, 6; R. D. Gatewood, 2; H. Bonnetheau, 1.

Pennsylvania—H. G. Roussett, 3; F. H. Scott, 2; Park, 0.

The Colgate university football team has secured William J. Warner of Buffalo, as coach for the coming season. Warner graduated from Cornell in 1903 and coached the University of North Carolina team last season.

Archie Hahn declared that he had not accepted a position as coach of the Purdue university track team, and added that this would prevent his going to the Olympian games at Athens, a contest in which he has set his heart on being a competitor.

Hahn will train at Ann Arbor for the A. A. U. championship meet at Cincinnati, and then start for Europe. He will not visit the Purdue school at all, fearing, especially after the report of his turning professional, to arouse any suspicion as to his integrity as an amateur athlete.

Hahn is one of the world's best sprinters, and the announcement that he would give up his amateur standing and chance of winning at Athens was a surprise to his associates in the M. A. C. team.

Ohio State beat Otterbein in an indoor meet Saturday night at Columbus, 37 to 4. The summaries:

Forty-yard dash—Won by Rothrock, State. Time, 4 4-5 seconds. Rothwell, State, second; Ayer, Otterbein, third.

Four hundred and forty-yard dash—Won by Rothwell, State. Time, 57 seconds (estimated). White, State, second; Liebcop, Otterbein, third.

One-half mile run—Won by Yeagle, State. Time, 2 minutes 6 1-5 seconds. Green, State, second; Ayer, Otterbein, third.

One mile run—Won by Shipps, State. Time, 4 minutes 48 seconds. Snow, State, second; Ayer, Otterbein, third.

One-mile relay—Won for Ohio State by White, Roller, Cook and Rothwell. Time, 3:47½. Otterbein team, Neunemacher, Ayer, Libecop and Eyman.

Judges—Myers, Fulled. Starter—Sweetland. Timers—Flick, Harshman, Drukett. Announcer—Warwick.

EXHIBITION EVENTS.

Forty-yard low hurdles, first heat—Hagerman first. Time, 5 2-5 seconds. Kirby second, Cook third. Second heat—Same places and same time.

Forty-yard high hurdles, first heat—Hagerman and Cook tie—6 seconds. Second heat—Cook first, Hagerman second—6 seconds.

Pole vault—Kimball and Dupuy tie at 9 feet 6 inches.

The Columbia swimming team defeated Pennsylvania in the Penn tank Saturday night, sweeping everything, with the exception of the 200-yard scratch.

In the water polo game, which was the fastest ever seen between two college teams in Philadelphia, Penn evened matters up by defeating the New Yorkers, by a score of 2 to 0. De Bow scored both of the goals.

Penn lacked the speed in the races, and was defeated each time by only a close margin. The relay race, which went to Columbia, was hard fought.

Hopkinson, Penn's only winner, won the 200-yard race from McKinley in handy fashion. Hopkinson took the lead at the start, and was never headed. Summary:

Relay race, 1,000 feet—Won by Columbia, H. E. Clarke, L. Motz, O. Kress, C. M. McKinley and F. C. Brown; Pennsylvania, K. Gitler, P. Rogers, L. E. Fagan, C. A. McCarey and E. Hopkinson, Jr., second. Time, 3 minutes 40 seconds.

Plunge for distance—Won by P. L. Well, Columbia, 54 feet; S. S. Bryant, Pennsylvania, 51 feet 3 inches, second.

One length, 100 feet—Won by F. C. Brown, Columbia; L. E. Fagen, Pennsylvania, second. Time, 19 seconds.

100-yard scratch, three lengths—Won by O. Kress, Columbia; C. A. McCarey, Pennsylvania, second. Time, 1 minute 18 seconds.

200-yard scratch, six lengths—Won by E. E. Hopkinson, Jr.; C. M. McKinley, second. Time, 2 minutes 46 4-5 seconds.

The Tamaqua basketball team will play the Westminster college five tonight at New Wilmington. Westminster is playing well and expects to defeat the crack visitors from the east.

DR. STRONG COMING TO HAND IN FINE SHAPE

Sam Pickering and Friends Look Over the Gray Streak and Cup Defender.

Light harness horsemen are getting busy now and the flyers are being sent slow jogs. S. A. Pickering went up to the Locust Grove farm on Saturday to see his gray streak, Dr. Strong (2:05¾). The gold cup winner looks grand, he says, and as lively as a two-year-old. He was fired last fall by Dr. Spangler and has come out of it in fine shape. The gray will be Pittsburgh's dependence again this year in the gold cup race. He will be brought down to the Brunots Island track in May when his preparation will begin.

Going up with Mr. Pickering were J. Dawson Callery, Harry Oliver and Robert McAfee. The farm is owned by the latter. Mr. Callery has a big string wintering at the farm.

Pittsburghers will go to Cambridge, Md., this week to attend the Lackey sales. Among the number will be Dave G. McDonald. J. S. Wilson and W. J. Thubron. P. J. Brennen will offer 20 odd head, while McDonald has 28 in his barn now of the Matinee club members he will go to Boston shortly where a good one is in sight.

Campbell is a new man from Des Moines, where he played with Herman Long's champions. Lower is a Chambersburg boy from the Texas League; Cristall comes from Toronto, and Thomas from Youngstown; Blount is from Western Pennsylvania, and Swayne from the New York League.

The reserve list includes Thomas Tuckey, Frank Falkenburg, Phillip Lewis, James Murray, J. Coombs, Charles Malay, J. Johnston, C. Foster, George Edward Waddell, J. Raidy and Ernest Vinson, all of whom have at one time or another been on the Harrisburg reserved list. In the case of "Rube" Waddell, it is said that several years ago, during one of his erratic spells, he signed a Harrisburg contract, and if ever he "jumps" to the Tri-State he must play here.

All of the players have been ordered to report on April 10, for practice.

COLUMBIA TO HAVE A SPACIOUS ATHLETIC FIELD

NEW YORK, March 4.—A spacious and splendidly equipped athletic field, costing $1,000,000, is proposed for Columbia university in plans filed with President Butler today by the committee he appointed some time ago to take the matter up. No ground near the university being available, it is proposed to make the ground by filling in the shallow shore waters of the Hudson river as far out as the pier head line, between One Hundred and Sixteenth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets.

With this field of unusual size, Columbia university would be able to inaugurate its proposed new policy in regard to athletics by doing away with all charges for gate money and by inviting the representatives of other institutions or those of the army and navy, for instance to use these grounds as the university's guests, tickets of admission being distributed to the alumni and students instead of being offered for public sale.

Men for New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 4.—(Special.)—Manager Percy Stetler of the New Castle ball team has signed George Moore and John Brebahm, two eastern ball players. They will play infield positions. This makes seven men Stetler has under contract.

RIVAL LEAGUES ARE SEEKING SEAMON'S PLAYERS

James and Bridges Turn Down Offers from Clubs in North and South Respectively.

WASHINGTON, PA., March 4.—Various league clubs are endeavoring to make inroads in the ranks of the men signed by Manager Seamon for the Washington team of the Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia league. Following the attempt by Bradford to secure Carisa, the star infielder here last year, repeated efforts have been made recently to induce James, the husky catcher under contract, to desert Washington. James last week received a flattering offer from one of the leading clubs in the New England league offering him a big increase in salary to report there for duty at the close of the Washington and Jefferson college season. James much prefers to play in Washington, and turned down the eastern offers. He is under contract here and says he will remain here throughout the season, if his services are required.

Bridges, signed for the local twirling staff, is also wanted by two clubs in the Southern league, but will remain here.

The infield signed by Washington, it is thought, will prove one of the best in the league. Manager Seamon has all along promised a pennant-winning aggregation, and if the caliber of the men already secured is an evidence of the general makeup there seems to be little opportunity to question his assertion. There promises to be a fight between Moffet, formerly of the Pittsburgh Collegians, and Carisa of the University of Pennsylvania, for the second base position. Both men are considered first-class. Both men will in all probability be retained, as it is imperative that an extra infielder be kept on the list. With either of these men at second, Kerr Price at short, McKechnie at third and either Gladfelter or Ed. Murphy on first, Washington's infield, it is felt sure, will be able to give a good account of itself.

The contracts of several new players, including some outfielders, have been approved by the local board of directors. The board refuses to make public the names of the men, but it is said that McConnell, with Washington last year, and Moore, formerly of Washington and Jefferson college, and with Washington a short while last year, will be given a trial.

That Washington expects big crowds at the home games this season is evidenced by preparations that are being made for accommodating a large attendance. Manager Seamon is preparing plans for the construction of extensive bleachers at College park, which will accommodate several hundred people. The college grandstand will hold at least 1,000 people and when contemplated improvements are made at the park, it is said that between 4,000 and 5,000 people can be accommodated. Washington last year had as high as 5,000 people in attendance in one day, and with a winning team in the new league this year, an even better patronage is looked for.

M'CHESNEY MAY SIGN WITH WAYNESBURG CLUB

Milwaukee Outfielder Will Go to Greene County or Harrisburg. P., O. and W. Va. Notes.

Harry McChesney, who played the outfield for Milwaukee last year, considers himself free. He has not received a contract from that club for this year, and so, according to baseball rules, is free. He met Milt. Montgomery at the hockey game Saturday night and Montgomery made him a good offer to play with Waynesburg this year. McChesney said he has a good offer from Harrisburg, but would let Montgomery know in a few days if he accepts his offer.

Don. McKim, manager of the Braddock team, wanted to effect a trade with Washington whereby he would get Ling Moffet for second base, but Budget Seamon only smiled.

"Spear" O'Leary, the Indiana Normal catcher, has signed with Uniontown.

Pitcher Frank Eastley, who is signed with Harrisburg, is entertaining an offer from Steubenville.

Charlie Starr thinks Steubenville will come near winning the pennant in the P., O. and W. Va. league.

Elmer Canon, the pitcher, has signed his contract with Waynesburg.

MASON SECURES CRACK MEN FOR FUTURE BOUTS

Visits New York, Boston and Philadelphia—Says Temple Met a Better Man.

Jimmy Mason, the local fistic promoter, returned last night from Boston, New York and Philadelphia, where he went to secure some new faces for the fistic shows in this section. As a result the following good matches will take place here in a short time: Tommy Murphy, the great little fighter who recently knocked out Benny Yanger, Tommy Mowatt and Jimmy Dunn, and who, good judges say, is the real featherweight champion, will meet Kid Beebe, the original by that name. Another match will be Phil McGovern, the youngest brother of Terry, and Jock Phenicie, the champion 105-pound fighter of the country. The other match will bring together Larry Temple, the colored welterweight of this city, and Sam Langford, the only fighter who ever beat him.

Mason, when asked last night as to how Temple came to lose to Langford the other night, said that his pupil met a better man and he had no excuses to offer, and also said that no dope had been used, nor had his man turned to listen to any seconds or anything else, but got licked on the square. While in the east Mason went up to New York and spent a whole afternoon with Terry McGovern and Joe Humphries. He says McGovern really is in better shape than anyone has any idea of, and if he puts the punch over on the Battler it will be all off.

"While in New York the other night I attended a show given by the New Polo Athletic club," said Mason. "This is the original club where the three-round game was first started, and after which all the boxing clubs in New York are now copying. The club is managed by John Oliver, who is the manager of Tommy Murphy, and this is where the latter got his start. Murphy is now at New Haven with Frank Erne, who is giving boxing lessons to the Yale students, and at the same time helping to train the former for a fight that is to take place at Boston this week."

Mason says that Oliver showed him some of the funniest sights in connection with boxers that he ever witnessed. The club is a legitimate one and numbers among its members some of the wealthiest men in New York. Admittanec is gained by a membership ticket only, and that must be secured long before the night of the show. The program is never announced, and when the stage door is opened there are over a hundred boxers with their staff wainting to be put on. Oliver then lets them all come into a swell room and wait until he is ready to pick the talent that is to go on. This is done by weighing and pairing them off to good advantage, as there has never been an accident or a bad bout at this club. When all the boys that are to appear are picked out Oliver then allows the balance to go up into a finely fitted balcony and see the show, and they behave themselves in a fine way, as I never heard a word out of them during the whole show."

Morgan and Fitzpatrick Tonight.

Dick Fitzpatrick, the speedy welterweight who is to meet Frank Morgan before the Greater Pittsburgh Athletic club in Armory hall tonight, arrived from Chicago yesterday morning. "The boxing game is dead now in Chicago," said Fitzpatrick last night. So anxious is Morgan to win the contest with Fitzpatrick that he kept up his regular training program yesterday. After spending two hours in the gymnasium and going 10 fast rounds with his sparring partner, Frank took a five-mile walk, and on returning to the city stated that he was feeling fit for the battle of his life.

BENNINGS OPENS IN FOUR WEEKS

There Will Be Plenty of Horses and Jockeys—Martin to Ride for Harry Brown.

MAHER IS OFF FOR EUROPE

Four weeks from next Monday the curtain rises with the opening of the Bennings meeting on eastern racing. Horses will be sent from New Orleans, California and Hot Springs, and the Washington meeting will have big entries in every event.

There will not be a dearth of good boys in the saddle, either, as the best will be there, although the boys have been slow in signing this year. Herman Radtke, the Chicago sensational jockey, will stay with J. O. Keene. His employer was offered $10,000 for his services by Barney Schreiber which Louis Cella increased to $15,000, and then Bud May made it $20,000, but the young wonder stuck by Keene.

If Eugene Hildebrand, who led all the jockeys in the east two years ago, is granted a license by the Jockey club, he will probably be found sporting the colors of Harry Payne Whitney. Hildebrand is now at Hot Springs getting in shape. Sewell, the leading rider at New Orleans, is under contract with C. E. Rowe, who has first call on his services. Frank O'Neill will ride again for Newton Bennington and Fred Burlew. Sewell will make his first appearance in the east this spring at the Aqueduct meeting.

Johnnie Martin will wear the famous cherry and blue cap this year of W. Harry Brown, wo will race the big stable of his brother, the late Capt. S. S. Brown. Lucien Lyne is still unattached. Walter Miller will also ride on the eastern tracks. Redfern will ride this year around 112 pounds. "Puddin" McDaniel the leading rider of the Ascot meeting, W. Davis, Tommy Burns and Fuller, who was injured at the Jamaica meeting, will all be seen in the saddle in the east. Nicol, under contract with Fred Cook, and who rode Sysonby in nearly all his races last year, will come east with the Cook stable.

Danny Maher, the premier jockey, sailed away yesterday from New York for England with 20 trunks. Maher does not know what his plans will be about riding over there this year. He will not know until he reaches the other side and confers with friends.

State and W. U. P. Tonight.

Pop Golden, coach of the State college team, announced last night that State will play W. U. P. tonight and West Virginia at Morgantown Tuesday night.

BASKETBALL NOTES.

The South Side Independents will lineup against Allentown tonight at the Independents hall, Twelfth and Carson streets.

Trenton plays Apollo next Saturday night in the final game of the series of three. Trenton won the first and Apollo the second.

The Central A. A. team would like to arrange a game for its hall for Wednesday night with any 16-year-old team. Address H. E. Wandless, 219 Center avenue, city, or call 791 Main between 6 and 7 p. m.

The Roanoke A. C. has open dates with teams having hall for Saturdays. Write H. C. Breit, 1817 Jane street, South Side, Pa.

MILT MONTGOMERY'S CAREER

The Waynesburg Manager Has Played College Baseball and in Minor Leagues.

Milt Montgomery.

Milt Montgomery, the manager of the Waynesburg P., O. and W. Va. league team, is a former college player. He played his first baseball on teams at Western University of Pennsylvania and later at Grove City college, at which institutions he attended as student.

The first league experience he had was in the Suburban league, a local amateur organization years ago. Then in 1897 he played second for Birmingham in the Southern league. He tired of professional ball and quit the game for two years, but in 1900 he went to Youngstown in the Interstate league. One year again was sufficient for him and he returned home. But he was induced to take charge of the Wilmerding team in 1901, which he managed and made one of the best independent teams in Western Pennsylvania. He had Laporte, now with the New York Americans, Don McKim, Mal Eason, Brick Gallagher, Jack Lynn and other stars. He had the Manor club the year following and then went to Waynesburg where he has been since. Montgomery is popular all over the circuit, and is held in high esteem by his employers. Last year when Mr. Sherman Grim asked him to return he asked Montgomery what he desired in salary. He told his figure, but Grim, in reply, said he would give more, surprising Montgomery with the sum stated. Montgomery declined to accept the large increase. When he drew his first envelope the increase was there, and it has been increased still since.

VISITING GOLF PROS START HOME

British Experts on Links Are Delighted With Their Visit. Will Come Again.

THINK AIKEN BEST COURSE

Winter golf is about over and thoughts of the links have to do with the early spring tournaments. The English professionals are either homeward bound or will be in a few days. Herd and Kirkaldy sail from Boston tomorrow on the Saxonia for Liverpool. Jack White, the British champion of 1904, went home from Mexico when others started for Houston, San Antono, New Orleans and Palm Beach. Rowland Jones sailed from New York after the Florida tournament.

Walter J. Travis beat all the cracks in the South Florida open at Palm Beach, setting a record for the course, 134. Herd and Kirkaldy won the four-ball match. Herd, Kirkaldy, Low, Barrett and Findlay went to Nassau after Palm Beach. There Findlay led the field. Kirkaldy on the return had the best of it at Ormond. Then George Low got first honors on the Bon Air links at Augusta. At Aiken, Herd and Kirkaldy won at foursomes, beating John Jones and James Mackrell.

On their return to New York, Findlay said that there will not be another open tournament for two years at Mexico City, but there may be one for amateurs next year. Willie Smith, they say, will remain with the San Pedro club at an increased salary. A new course has been laid out there, which will be ready in two years. The present course is hard and sandy, but the new one will have turf the year round. They considered the Aiken course the best that they played on. The British professionals were delighted with their trip and wish to come again, but if they do it will be in the summer.

OVER THE WORLD GOES THE SUNDAY GAZETTE FOR NEWS

Not an Item of Importance Missed in Our Own or Any Other Country.

Local.

Pennsylvania railroad report showed expenses per passenger per mile in 1905 was 1.986 cents. Construction of a tunnel under Fifth avenue was stopped by city officials. Congressman John Dalzell made a strong plea for new postoffice at banquet tendered the visiting congressional committee by the city. Frederick W. Edwards has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for auditor general. Treasurer of the district miners' organization is in a predicament regarding payment of salary to Patrick Dolan; independent operators attacked principal interest. Director Clark offered jobs from the Guthrie administration for votes to organize the new councils. Director Elgelow announced that the ordinance making the contract with the Allegheny County Light Company would be rushed through councils Tuesday, and Mayor Hays said he would veto the Brand resolution. Congressmen decided that Pittsburgh needs a new postoffice building at once, and promised $1,000,000 to start work.

Domestic.

Owingsville (Ky.) man wounded his wife and killed her mother when the former refused to shoot him to death. A Brooklyn man had to withstand shocking tests with burning needle to prove his claim in court. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth have reached Javanch, where they discussed their pleasant honeymoon trip. Society islands, or Tahiti group, in South Pacific, were devastated by terrific hurricane, and large loss of life was reported. An aged man dropped dead in a Jersey City restaurant when a beefsteak, his favorite dish, was placed before him. Sons of the American Revolution demanded passage leading to Benedict Arnold's tomb. Grieving for a sight of his native land, Eric Israelson, a Swede, committed suicide in a little town near Corry.

Foreign.

England has forced an issue at the Algeciras conference, and both France and Germany must now show their hands. Cabal against the czar was started by reactionaries in the palace because of the threatened downfall of the autocracy. Senators and deputies in French parliament have been particularly active during the close of the session. Society women acted as printers during Russian strike and were a great assitance to the cause of the czar. A former well-known London concert singer was found in rags, and told the court that a man had caused her trouble. Mrs. Anthony Drexel, the queen of fashion at Cannes, gave a dinner on her yacht which was regal in every sense of the word.

Sporting.

State Federation of Motor Clubs was organized. Players on the Pittsburgh baseball team will leave for Hot Springs one week from today. Frankie Neal said he would not stand any "kidding" and then put out Harry Tenny for good. Race for the championship of the Allegheny County Bowling league is exciting. Ed. Hickey won the target shoot given by the Millvale Gun club.

Financial.

New York stocks opened firmer and higher, but later reacted and closed lower, the copper stocks leading the decline. Bank statements were more favorable than the estimates. The wheat market was weak on bear raids and liquidation of holdings.

Railroad Offices and Records Burn.

PORTSMOUTH, VA., March 4.—The general office building of the Seaboard Air Line railway was entirely destroyed except the walls, by a fire this morning, and while the monetary loss is approximately only $25,000, there were many valuable records and official papers of the road destroyed. President Barr and Vice President E. F. Cost reached Portsmouth from their Cuban trip just as the fire was controlled.

Negro Cook Gets Into Trouble

Simon Calloway, a negro cook at a camp near Coraopolis, was committed to jail yesterday on a charge of buying and furnishing liquor to a person of known intemperate habits, made by John Doughty before C. H. Stevenson, justice of the peace of Coraopolis. It is alleged he bought a pint of whisky for a man who had been refused a drink because the seller had been notified not to sell to him.

WORKER'S MAGAZINE AGAIN EXTENDS HELPING HAND TO THOSE WHO WORK

Another great number was The Gazette of yesterday, great in its news columns, in its special articles, in all of the departments which have tended to make The Sunday Gazette the greatest among all of the great Sunday papers. No other paper pays quite so much attention, in detail, to the needs of any one class of people as that offered in the Worker's Magazine of The Sunday Gazette. With an eye singe to the wishes of those readers who are really the foundation upon which the stability of the city's industrial strength rests, The Sunday Gazette is doing what it can to extend a helping hand. Every article appearing in the Worker's Magazine, it is the hope, will be of some value to some particular workman. The articles in yesterday's great number were particularly pertinent, in that they touched on matters to which little attention has heretofore been paid.

Have you read of the wonders of the electro magnet? It opens up a vast field of work. There is money in raising wheat, and experience is not necessary. "The Work Habit is Essential to Wealth and Happiness," is a subject dealt in by one writer in most entertaining vein. A convention has been called by the State Labor Federation, "Union Mill Workers May Get an Advance," the Amalgamated is preparing for its annual convention, and one who is qualified to speak writes about it intelligently. There is a story of Cromwell, of Panama fame, who, it is said, can work 72 hours at a stretch. The new idea man invents an airship, and another writer insists that conditions are improving in several labor unions. Other articles are: "Survival of the Fittest Law of the Department Store," "Aspirant for Literary Fame Must Travel Up-hill Road," and a bundle of others of equal interest.

In the Home Journal section, O. Henry has a story on "The Buyer From Cactus City." There is another Seumas MacManus on "Lost by a Nose," while "The Mystery of an Empty Palace," by Raymond Havens, is thrilling.

Little Nemo in Slumberland is more quaintly beautiful this week than ever. The funmakers are Jimmy Swift, Leander, the Tiny Lads, Sammy Sneeze and the Wish Twins. Mr. Coon gets vaccinated in spite of strenuous objections on his part.

"GOD'S ANSWER TO MAN'S GREATEST QUESTION"

"What Shall I Do to Be Saved?" Brings Response, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ."

"God's Answer to Man's Greatest Question," was the subject of the sermon preached yesterday morning by the Rev. Dr. J. Kinsey Smith at the Shadyside Presbyterian church. The question is: "What Must I Do to Be Saved?" and the answer, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and Thou Shalt Be Saved," the text being taken from Acts, 16:30-31. Dr. Smith said in part:

"The story of the conversion of the Philippian jailor ranks in interest, dramatic power and spiritual suggestiveness with other similar narrations in the New Testament—notably with that of the conversion of Zaccheus, of the man born blind and of St. Paul himself. But this incident of the Philippian jailor has a point and piquancy and large suggestiveness all its own. For the question here tremblingly put is the greatest of all which arise in the human heart. It is indeed the one problem of the moral universe.

"What then is it to be unsaved? According to the Bible that man is unsaved who, first, is living in a wrong relation to God; secondly, who is living in a false relation to his own self; thirdly, who is living in a false relation to his neighbor; fourthly, who lives in a wrong relation to things, reverencing things seen more than things unseen. God's answer to this question: 'What Must I Do to Be Saved?' is simple, straight and clear, 'Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and Thou Shall Be Saved.' Entrust yourself absolutely to Jesus Christ as your teacher, example, Savior and Lord, and He will put you in the path of salvation.' Christ saves by changing our wrong moral relations to right spiritual relations."

Baird, 613 Avery street, and stolen cigars, chewing gum, candy, etc. The boy had a key of the store and was caught late Saturday night in the place by Detective T. C. Johnson.

MARCH WEATHER KEEPS CROWDS FROM PARKS

Non-Residents Form Large Portion of Those Who Brave Penetrating Winds.

Proverbial March weather, the kind that makes you wish for the soft, balmy breezes of spring, was the offering of the weather man yesterday. In consequence the visitors to the Pittsburgh parks were few. Added to an eastern wind that penetrated the heaviest winter apparel, was snow, and the gale that blew across the unprotected walks made the pedestrian realize that it was a real winter day.

Already preparations for the annual Easter flower show in the Phipps conservatories in Schenley park are noticeable. Experience has taught Supt. George W. Burke just what measures to take to have every plant in glorious full bloom at that time, and the result will be a bewildering mass of beautiful flowers and plants, such as one does not often have the opportunity to view.

A fair-sized audience, whose love for music led them to brave the elements, listened to an organ recital by Miss Mary Chappell Fisher of Rochester, N. Y., in the Carnegie music hall. Ten numbers were given, her rendition of the "Funeral March" and "Seraph's Song," one of Guilmant's compositions that requires wonderful technique, being well received. W. K. Steiner of Pittsburgh will give the recitals on March 10 and 11. The present season will close on March 18, owing to the alterations now going on in the library building.

Only 800 people visited the art galleries, this being one of the smallest crowds of the year. The zoological gardens in Highland park had a fair crowd, considering the weather.

CONDEMNS CONSERVATIVES.

Dr. Levy Says World Would Have Stood Still Had Everyone "Counted the Cost."

The 18th lecture in the present course of Sunday services held under the auspices of the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom was given yesterday morning in Carnegie hall, Allegheny, by the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy. He had for his subject, "Counting the Cost," and said in part:

Everything worth having is purchased at great cost, and whether it be liberty, intellectual, political or moral; whether it be religion in contradistinction to heathenism; whether it be art or civilization; whether it be the fruits of June or the autumn harvests—all are obtained by the outlay of energy, effort and struggle. Not one of these precious inheritances would today have been ours if men had hesitated when counting the cost. Had society been composed only of the conservative element, we should today have been surrounded by feudal influences and mediaeval concepts. To uplift mankind, to be of service means the expenditure of self, and if the world is to become better, we must be prepared to make this sacrifice without counting the cost.

"The Use and Abuse of Creeds."

The Rev. Thomas Clayton, pastor of the Second Unitarian church, yesterday at the service in Carnegie hall, Allegheny, preached on "The Uses and Abuses of Creeds." He said regular creeds are both unnecessary and objectionable, as they exclude more than they include of truth and usurp the place and right of private judgment. Another objection was that they engendered bitter controversy, hatred and persecutions. He closed with the statement that "it would be far better to have a simple declaration of the vital principles and so leave ample room for differences of opinion."

Argue Over Merits of Beer.

Mike Mizrowich and Steven Kastelich are connoisseurs on beer. They had an argument Saturday night as to the merits of different brews. Mike contended as to the excellence of one, Steve insisted the other was the better; Mike pulled a knife and lunged at his friend, but missed. The presiding magistrate stabbed Mike $20 worth yesterday morning.

MRS. HAZA'S WOE IS AMELIORATED

A Charitable Gazette Reader Sends Money to Woman Who Lost Husband So Tragically.

IS NOW LOOKING FOR WORK

Destitute, bowed with grief over the death of her husband, whom she had just buried, Mrs. Mary Haza was yet consoled somewhat yesterday to learn that her sad story had raised up friends among strangers. Charity is not particularly to her taste, for she intends to go to work as soon as she can find other shelter for her children, but still the $5 which a benevolent reader of The Gazette sent her yesterday, will come handy, for it will help to enable her to tide over a few days until her affairs have been settled.

Mrs. W. A. Stone of Hopwood read in The Gazette the story of Mary Haza; how her husband went out of town to get work, secured employment with the Masonic Country club at Bear Run, and wrote her that in a few days he would send money to bring her and the two children to Bear Run, where a neat little house was placed at his disposal. The next day the woman received word that her husband had been killed by a train. Mrs. Stone thereupon sent The Gazette $5 for Mrs. Haza, and yesterday the money was taken to the woman. She was deeply touched and asked The Gazette to thank Mrs. Stone from the bottom of her heart. The first money to be laid out will be for a pair of stout shoes, for Mrs. Haza is going to look for work. She would write to Mrs. Stone herself, but she writes only Polish. Another benevolently disposed person sent Mrs. Haza $1.

Right in the place where she lives Mrs. Haza is experiencing that kindness which the poor show to one another. On the second story, and in the attic of 1111 Frederick street, are two spotlessly clean rooms, occupied by Joseph Petrowski, his wife and four children. There Mrs. Haza and her little ones live, for before Haza left on his fatal journey he asked Petrowski, who was a mere acquaintance, to shelter his family for a few days. The Petrowskis have taken care of the family since. Although Petrowski is a poor, hardworking man, he frowned at Mrs. Haza's offer of the first dollar which was sent her and bade her keep the money, as she needed it more than he, and when she talked yesterday about laying out the $5 for the good of the combined families, he told her emphatically that she must use it to buy things for herself and her children, for as long as his family had a bite to eat she was welcome to share it.

The Society for the Improvement of the Poor offered to take care of Mrs. Haza's children until she was on her feet, but in her ignorance of American ways she thought she would have to give up the children altogether, and of course declined the offer. It is her intention to keep the family together, if possible, and if she must part with the children for a while, she intends to get the family together again. The boy, Stanislaus, is 6 years old, and the girl, Angela, is 2.

Through the Polish parish priest of the South Side Mrs. Haza obtained the means to go to New Haven, adjoining Connellsville, to see her husband buried, taking the little boy with her, as he insisted that he must see his papa.

Fines Proprietress $100.

When Inspector Robinson raided a house at 73 Chatham street yesterday morning he found a man and woman fighting. Violet Wilson, the alleged proprietress, was fined $100 and costs, the fighting woman, $50, and the man $10. Mary Ross, alleged proprietress of a house at 432½ Third avenue, was fined $50 and five other women found in her place, $10. Archie Noble, who was found in the Frick building Saturday night, was held over.

"Dat's a Cinch"

"Say, Harry, w'at's de best way to teach a girl how to swim?" asked the younger one.

"Dat's a cinch. First off you puts your left arm under her waist and you gently takes her left hand—"

"Come off; she's me sister."

"Aw, push her off de dock."

SENATE PLANS A BUSY WEEK

Statehood and Rate Bills Will Occupy Attention—The World at Large.

KING EDWARD ON A TRIP

The United States senate will devote most, if not all, the week to the consideration of the statehood bill, with a view to reaching a vote Friday. There is a possibility that Senator Culberson may speak today on the railroad rate question, but if he does this will be the only interruption of the bill for the creation of two new states. Senator Patterson probably will close the debate for the opposition and Senator Beveridge for the bill.

Practically all the interest in the bill centers in the Foraker amendment, and every possible effort on both sides is being made for and against that provision. Opponents of the bill appear confident of success. Both sides profess to have assurances from the house friends of the joint bill that with the Forker amendment incorporated in the measure it will be allowed to die, and its opponents insisting that with the addition made the house will be so eager to accept it that they will not even allow the bill to go to conference.

The fact that the railroad rate question will not occupy the floor will not be permitted to interfere with the activity on account of it. The bill is still receiving more attention from individual senators than any other measure. The bill will be made the unfinished business as soon as the vote is taken on the statehood bill.

House Short of Work.

Senator Lodge is still disposed to ask the senate to take the Philippine tariff bill from the custody of the committee on the Philipines, but he will not move until after the statehood vote.

For the first time during the present congress the house is short of work. There is nothing in sight for the present week but the Indian appropriation bill, and, although not regarded as necessary, the consideration of this bill is to be allowed to consume Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. An adjournment will be taken Friday until Monday.

Under suspension of the rules today it is not unlikely that an effort will be made to get consideration of the bill abolishing the grade of lieutenant general in the army. The bill goes into effect on its passage and makes no provision for the promotion to that rank of Gens. Corbin and MacArthur.

The Algeciras conference on Moroccan affairs will continue this week to be the focus point in international interest. The question of the Moroccan bank having been practically passed over, the conferees will now consider the most important point, the policing. Should agreement on this question be possible an early solution of the whole problem and an adjournment may be looked for.

King Edward on Trip.

Off for a two months' holiday and traveling as the duke of Lancaster, King Edward is this week visiting Paris, where he is staying at the British embassy until tomorrow. During his visit he will meet President Fallieres. From Paris the king goes to Biarritz, and will stay there until the end of March.

While at Biarritz he will receive King Alfonso and discuss with him the details of the latter's marriage to Princess Ena of Battenberg.

In view of the recent riots in France much attention to the consistory, which will be held at the vatican, March 10, to consider the French government's attitude in the matter of the separation of the church and state. The pope, it is expected, will formulate a protest, and probably secret instructions will be sent to the bishops in France as to their attitude.

It is considered possible that at this consistory the pope will fill the vacancies in the college of cardinals.

The association to prevent corrupt practices at elections will meet in New York March 5 to 7. The subjects for discussion will be primary and election laws and corrupt practices acts. Among the speakers will be R. L. Borden, leader of the opposition in the Canadian parliament.

In the Oil Fields

Lower southwest operators failed to introduce anything out of the ordinary during the week just closed. Fewer wells were completed than has been the rule and none located in advance of the old developments a sufficient distance to show anything more than a slight extension to the previously defined producing limits. As for strictly new pools, nothing has been discovered in months that would indicate that new producing territory might be had by a continuance of development work. In the deep-sand districts a cessation of experimental work is more pronounced than in any other quarter. The late completions have been so universally small that there is no disposition to keep up active work in the old fields or make an effort to find new pools. The four most important counties that can be relied on for deep sand production are Marion, Wetzel, Harrison and Doddridge, and there is less work under way and starting in these counties than at any time in many years. In all of the four counties the various gas companies have been fairly active for more than a year, and it was hoped that in the search for gas some new oil producing territory might be discovered. The result shows that no important discoveries have been made by them in any quarter. Now and again they have drilled in small oil producers, but when an effort was made to extend the producing limits, dry holes have followed.

Two months ago it looked as if the Philadelphia Company had discovered a new fourth sand pool on Indian Creek run, in Church district, Wetzel county. The first well to show oil in large quantities was that company's test on the Tearsarden farm. When first drilled into the fourth sand pay it started at gusher speed, but the decline was rapid and the shot that was given it later was of but temporary help. The second test was light as compared with the first and neither well is now more than an ordinary producer. The new work that was expected to start after the completion of the first well has not materialized, and many of the locations made will not be drilled unless there is something more encouraging found in the vicinity. South of Mannington the Hope Natural Gas Company made a Gordon sand discovery at a test on the J. W. Hess farm that looked promising when drilled in, but since completed and put to pumping it is not good for more than 10 or 15 barrels a day.

In the shallow sand districts, operators have met with more encouragement. On Point Pleasant creek, Ellsworth district, Tyler county, the Southern Oil Company recently completed a test on the Workman farm that promises a liberal extension. The well is holding up at about 80 barrels a day and has been in more than two weeks. There is considerable new work contemplated for that locality and it is possible that it may prove an active development in the early spring. The eastern edge of Tyler county has received a good deal of attention in the past few years, and occasionally some very good producers have been found, but the pools have in almost every instance proven congested and by the time development work had become active dry holes put in an appearance and resulted in disappointment.

Just now the salt sand territory in Ritchie county is receiving considerable attention, and the new work is proving satisfactory. There is in that county a stretch of salt sand territory several miles in length that looks capable of furnishing fair wells. All told there are not fewer than a dozen test wells drilling and starting in the district. Calhoun county has something new to offer south of the Rowells Run district. The way the initial well on the Lee farm is holding up looks favorable for that locality. There is a little new work starting, and with the return of spring there will be greater activity.

To the extreme lower southwest, in Putnam county, the oil and gas companies have been trying for more than a year to find a new pool. In Curry district some very good gassers have been found, but up to the present it has not been found in paying quantities. The development work in this county was inspired by the Big Lime development, near Milton, in Cabell county. All efforts to extend the reducing limits of the last named pool have been abandoned. The old wells have fallen low in production, and the entire pool has been surrounded by dry holes, leaving no room for an outlet.

In Southeastern Ohio, the Berea grit development, in the vicinity of Woodsfield, Monroe county, is the most active development. There are more wells drilling in that district, and the average production of the new completions is higher, than in any other. An extension to the south is assured and in that direction development work is now most active. In the shallow sand districts, in Washington county, there is a falling off in development work. The old districts have been very fully developed and there is no longer room for additional wells except in a few localities. There is still an effort making to find new pools and the chances are favorable. A dry hole in the shallow sand territory does not condemn a large area. Harrison and Jefferson counties have not been deserted. In both there is experimental work under way and starting. Both have been furnishing some new producing territory within the last year, and it is probable that more new pools will be discovered before the close of the current year.

The most important development in the local fields is the Burgettstown pool, in Washington county. The producing limits have been extended and the size of the wells larger than at any time since the first wells were completed. There is more work under way now than at any time in the past year. At Leasedale, on the Washington branch of the Panhandle railroad in Allegheny county, there is a little development that has caused some local excitement. Some six or eight wells have been completed and some have showed considerable strength when first drilled into the sand. The decline has been rapid and they settle down in a short time to about 10-barrel producers. During the past month four wells, three of 10 barrels each and one lighter, were completed and during the past week a test was drilled in on the J. W. Walker farm that is good for about 10 barrels a day. There is no occasion for any excitement, for there is not room for anything better than a congested pool.

Tonsiline Prevents Quinsy

The Germs which cause Quinsy reach the deeper seated tissues by absorption through the tonsils, causing the horribly painful inflammation which results in suppuration. Quinsy is simply a development of Sore Throat to which some people are peculiarly subject. With them, a tedious or neglected Sore Throat terminates in Quinsy. With them, a quickly cured Sore Throat means Quinsy avoided and nothing cures Sore Throat as quickly and surely as TONSILINE.

Many such letters as below prove TONSILINE'S value in preventing Quinsy.

Gentlemen:—I have been subject to Quinsy for the last fifteen years and have simply had to suffer from ten days to two weeks with it at every attack, never having been able to find a preventive, until I commenced using TONSILINE.

Up until a year ago I had had ten attacks of Quinsy, but have been able to avoid it twice since that time by the use of a 25 cent bottle of your remedy. Hoping that others similarly troubled will profit by my experience, and thanking you for what your TONSILINE has done for me, I remain, Yours very truly, E. T. KEENAN, Chief Clerk Auditor's Office, C. A. and C. Ry., Cleveland, Ohio.

Sufferers from Quinsy should always have TONSILINE ready for instant use on first sign of Sore Throat. 25c and 50c—All druggists. The Tonsiline Co. Canton, Ohio.

READ THE REALTY NEWS COLUMNS TODAY.

It's a good thing to get acquainted. It's a good time to get acquainted, while the warm spring sunshine sort of thaws out one's bad feelings. There are no two classes of people in the city to whom pleasant acquaintance is more important and more valuable than the real estate fraternity on the one hand and the buying and renting public on the other. It's partly to facilitate this getting acquainted and partly to bring to modest notice the men who are largely responsible for Greater Pittsburgh's growth and prosperity that The Gazette will show in its real estate news columns daily for a few months the likenesses of the realty brokers of this great community, which has but very few equals as a real estate mart in the country.

TO HELL AND BACK—WHO ARE THERE? HOPE FOR RETURN OF MANY OF THEM

Pastor C. T. Russell Delivered an Anti-Infidelity Discourse in Carnegie Music Hall.

An overflowing audience in Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall last evening listened attentively to Pastor C. T. Russell's anti-infidelity discourse, entitled: "To Hell and Back. Who Are There? Hope for the Return of Many of Them." He said:

Although the caption of my topic has a sensational aspect, I assure you all that it is no, really so, that I shall treat the subject most earnestly and prove every assertion most conclusively from the Scriptures. God forbid that I should treat lightly a subject which has caused more distress, more heartache, more sorrow of mind, than all other subjects combined; caused these distresses to the very best amongst the Lord's followers. I care not to specially address those who are so selfish as to regard merely themselves and their family connections, and who are quite content that all others might suffer an eternity of torture so long as their friends are saved from such a calamity. I would reach especially those whose hearts and heads have been troubled almost to the extent of distraction over this subject—those who have wept and prayed as they remembered sons and daughters, friends and neighbors, parents and children, who had died without having accepted Jesus as their Savior, without having taken upon them the only name given under heaven and amongst men whereby we must be saved—Acts 4:12.

I hold that it is the best of God's people, the tenderest of heart, the most Christlike, who have had trouble with the question of eternal torment. I know how to sympathize with them because once I had similar distress of mind, and, like others, was obliged to say: "If I believe this doctrine and meditate upon it it will surely make me crazy, as it has done hundreds and thousands of others." Such loving hearts have found a palliation but not a relief, not a satisfaction, in the thought that somehow, perhaps, somewhere, at some time, God's character would be cleared of the dreadful stain cast upon it by this doctrine which we believe to be the teaching of God's book, the Bible.

I, too, once so believed and feared, and was ashamed of my God because of the injustice, lovelessness, devilishness implied in the theory taught me from infancy, that God, knowing the end from the beginning, had created our race under conditions as we see them; that he provided a great place called hell for their torture, and created a corps of fire-proof devils to attend to the matter, and provided also fuel enough to perpetuate the torture to all eternity. I felt thankful indeed to realize myself an object of divine mercy and favor, but my heart went out for the thousands of millions of human beings of civilized as well as heathen lands who had gone down into death utterly ignorant of "the only name given under heaven and amongst men whereby we must be saved"—"neither is there salvation in any other."

The Pastor's Early Efforts.

That I thoroughly believed this doctrine you may know when I tell you that at 17 years of age it was my custom to go out at night to chalk up words of warning in conspicuous places, that peradventure I might save some from the awful doom. And the while I wondered why God, who is of infinite power, did not blazen forth some words of warning upon the sky or cause angel trumpeters to announce positively and forcefully the doom to which the world in general was, I supposed, hastening. I was an admirer of the great Baptist preacher, Charles Spurgeon, and esteemed him very highly for the honesty and candor which made his sermons so dreadfully hot, believing as I did that he was an exceptionally honest minister, and that others who believed similarly were grossly derelict of duty in not preaching hell more strenuously.

But I am here this evening, dear friends, to explain to you how in great mercy God opened the eyes of my understanding to see that the doctrine of eternal torment is not the teaching of the Bible, but on the contrary is a misrepresentation and blasphemy of the great and holy name. I am here to prove to you that the doctrine of eternal torment has come down to us from the Dark Ages in the hymns and catechisms and creeds, and that it is not only contrary to reason but also contrary to the Word of God.

A Relic of the Dark Ages.

Demon gods—vicious, spiteful, merciless—are known to all the heathen peoples. The Bible alone of all religious books teaches a God of love, sympathy and compassion, sympathetic with his creatures and desirous of rescuing them from their fallen estate. It was during the "Dark Ages," when the spirit of Christ, the spirit of love, became so nearly extinct even amongst Christians, that they thought it perfectly proper and pleasing to God that they should tear one another limb from limb on the rack, that they should burn one another at the stake, that they should torture one another with thumbscrews and fill each other's mouths and ears with molten lead—it was at that time and by those, our deluded ancestors, that this doctrine of eternal torment was torn from heathendom and engrafted upon the teachings of Jesus and his apostles.

We find indeed that the inquisitors of old justified the tortures of their fellow-creatures with the very claim that they were thus copying God, and that their victims would receive still worse treatment when after death they should come into the hands of the Almighty. People will copy their conceptions of the Creator—how necessary, therefore, that we have the right conception, that we worship a God who is greater in justice, wisdom, love and power than ourselves. With such a terrible misconception of God the wonder is that Christianity has made any progress at all. The only offset has probably been the thought of the love of Jesus and of his willingness and endeavor to rescue men.

Infidelity Fostered by Hell Theory.

Intelligent people everywhere are very generally discarding the doctrine of eternal torment as being contrary to reason. But, alas, thinking that it is taught in the Scriptures, these same intelligent people are rejecting the Bible, losing faith in it, drifting into unbelief in general, into Christian Science, Spiritism, Theosophy, etc.

If this evening I shall succeed in proving to you that the Scriptures do not teach this unreasonable theory of eternal torment, which is supposed to be built upon its statements—if on the contrary I shall show you that the "hell" of the Scriptures is logical and reasonable, I shall hope to have planted the feet of some upon firmer ground, to have re-established to some extent faith in the Bible as the Word of God, and to have prepared your minds to see that as this error is not of Scriptural foundation, so likewise all the unreasonable teachings of the creeds of the "dark ages" are without foundation in the Bible. I hope thus to lay a foundation for your future growth in knowledge and in grace. I could not possibly ask for you of the Lord a greater blessing than has already come to my own heart and life through better knowledge of the Scriptures along these lines.

The Hell of the Bible.

I will endeavor to give you Scriptural proofs that the hell of the Bible is not a place of torment at all; that the word refers to the state of death, the tomb, the grave. I shall show you that the Scriptures teach that both the good and bad alike go to the Biblical hell, the tomb, and that their hope of salvation is a resurrection hope—to be delivered from the power of death by the Redeemer in God's due time.

We are all aware that the Old Testament portion of the Bible was written in the Hebrew language and the New Testament in the Greek. We will commence with the Old Testament. We find that the word "hell" everywhere throughout the Old Testament is a translation of the Hebrew word sheol, which occurs altogether 66 times, and is translated three different ways in our common versions; 31 times grave, 31 times hell and three times pit. It should have been translated grave or hell or tomb in every instance. Indeed in two instances where it is rendered hell in the common version, the marginal reading says, "Hebrew, the grave."

One of these is Jonah 2:2. Jonah is represented as telling how he prayed to God while he was in the belly of the great fish. He was buried alive, entombed. Our common version reads, "Out of the belly of hell cried I," the literal meaning is "Out of the grave-hell" I prayed." Adding these two instances to the last we would have grave 34 times, pit three times and hell three times, the word is erroneously rendered 29 times out of 66. I shall not weary you by giving you all of these 66 passages, nor is this necessary, for we have provided in the hands of the ushers or the doors a free pamphlet to which you are welcome on request. It takes up every text in which the word hell occurs from Genesis to Revelation, and every passage which in any sense of the word appears to teach an eternity of torture. It analyzes these with their context, and shows what they do and what they do not mean. It will convince any fair-minded man in this audience who will give it careful examination.

In reading, I remark that much of the difficulty of this subject has arisen from careless reading of the Word of God, adding to its statements in our minds it is not in our words. For instance, when we read in the Bible, "All the wicked shall God destroy" (Psa. 145:20), we unwittingly said to ourselves, "Destroy must mean preserve; preserve to live, preserve in torment, preserve with devils eternally. Thus we distorted the Word of God to our own undoing as well as to the injury of others. Similarly, the word die—when we read in the Scriptures, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die" (Ezek. 18:20), we corrected the word of God as we would not think of perverting any other writings and said, "Die must here mean live, live in torment eternally with devils in suffering." Eventually it is very certain, "All the wicked shall perish" (Psa. 37:20), we turned the language upside down and said, "Perish means preserve." Thus our confusion continued; we were blinded by the adversary on the lines on which he has blinded the entire heathen world, hindering the glorious light of the goodness of God from shining more and more into the hearts of men—II Cor. 4:4.

Gray Hairs in Hell.

The first occurrence of the word sheol is in connection with the patriarch Jacob and his twelve sons. His two youngest sons, nobler than their brethren, were most beloved by Jacob. Joseph, his favorite, clothed in his handsome coat of many colors, was sent to his brethren, who were pasturing the sheep at a distance from home, to take them delicacies and bring back word of their welfare. The brethren, moved with envy, first thought to kill him, and subsequently sold him to the Ishmaelites, who in turn sold him to the Egyptians, in whose land under God's providential care he in after years became ruler next to the king. Meantime the brethren took the peculiar coat of many colors, bedraggled it in the blood of a goat and in the dust, and sent it home to Jacob, inquiring if he recognized it. He answered, "Alas, it is Joseph's coat, and wild beasts have devoured him. (I will go down to sheol to my son mourning." (Gen. 37:35). What did he mean? Did he mean by sheol a place of fire and torment? Did he believe that Joseph, his best son, had gone there, and that he, Jacob, also expected to go to that place? No, we answer. He meant that evidently Joseph was dead, and that he would mourn for him the remainder of his life, until he also should go into the state of death, into sheol, into hell.

The second occurrence of the word is a little further on in the same narrative. The brethren had been to Egypt to buy corn, because of famine in Canaan. It was necessary that they should go for more, but they explained to Jacob that the governor, whom they knew not was Joseph, had required of them that if they came again they must bring with them Benjamin, their brother, the one whom Jacob now specially loved. Jacob protested, but finding that there was no escape, he finally told them to take Benjamin, but told them also that if they did not bring him back alive and safe it would bring down his gray hairs in sorrow to the grave, sheol. Jacob evidently meant not that he would go to a place of eternal torment if Benjamin did not return, but that a failure to bring Benjamin back would hasten his death through sorrow. Does any sane person have any doubt as to the meaning of sheol in these instances, the first two occurrences in the Bible? No, you have no doubt, nor reason for any. And the word has the same meaning exactly in its every occurrence throughout the Scriptures, as you will see when you read our free pamphlet.

Hell in Old English Literature.

Just a word in defense of the translators of our common version English Bible. All living languages are subject to variation in meaning, and this seems to have been particularly true of the English. To illustrate, the word hell at one time meant the grave in the English language. But gradually this meaning has been dropped out of the word, until now it is never so used in ordinary conversation. As illustrations of its use in bygone times, we find in ancient English literature references to the helling of a house, meaning not the burning of the house nor the torturing of it, but the thatching of it. Similarly, we read of the farmer helling his potatoes, the meaning of the expression being not the roasting of potatoes nor the torturing of them, but the putting of them into a pit for preservation from the frosts, etc., until needed for use.

As for the translators of the revised version, they seem to have been too honest to use the word hell as a translation for sheol and hades, but not honest enough to tell the people the truth on the subject. Hence, you will find that in the revised version no translation at all is given, but the Hebrew word sheol in the Old Testament and the Greek word hades in the New Testament are used instead of the word hell when grave is not used. The translators evidently anticipated what occurred, namely, that the public, knowing nothing about Greek and Hebrew, would esteem this was an attempt to do away with hell, whereas the real animus of the translators was to perpetuate it. The translators knew that the public would say that hell was just as hot and just as real, although now called sheol and hades. They knew that the public would never suspect that the wool was being pulled over the eyes of their understandings to hinder them from seeing the plain teaching of God's Word, that sheol means the grave or tomb or death state—nothing more, nothing less.

Praying to Go to Hell.

Job, one of the most prominent characters of the Old Testament, one especially mentioned as a favorite with God, made a most eloquent prayer that he might go to hell, to sheol, to the tomb. And no wonder, poor man, for surely in his case was fulfilled the statement, "Many are the afflictions of the righteous." (Psa. 34:19). Unwilling to suicide, he craved relief from his sorrows and troubles in death. Refresh your memory respecting his troubles: The Almighty, while approving him, permitted the Adversary to vex him sorely, to the extent of taking away every earthly possession except the mere thread of life itself. His children, gathered for a birthday party, were killed by a cyclone; later his flocks and herds and property in general were utterly destroyed. Finally his health gave way, and he broke out in boils from head to foot.

To add to his sorrows, his friends and neighbors, instead of consoling him, turned against him and declared that he had been acting the part of a hypocrite, and that God was now exposing him—showing his disapproval. In vain did Job protest his innocence and appeal to the Lord until subsequently the Lord gave his verdict in favor of Job against the friends. But as though all these trials and difficulties were not enough for the poor man, to cap the climax his wife exclaimed, "You are accursed of God and should die." Then poor Job poured forth his prayer for death, saying, "O, that Thou wouldst hide me in sheol until thy wrath be past!—Job 14:13.

Does anyone of sane mind think that poor Job, after passing through all these afflictions, was in these words praying to God to cast him into a place of eternal torment, to be the sport of devils? No, such a supposition would be irrational. Very evidently Job meant that if God were willing, he would be glad to die, to go into sheol, the tomb, the state of death.

Sheol Not Desirable Forever.

But Job had a hope for the future—he was not desirous of being annihilated; hence his prayer is, "O, that Thou wouldst hide me in sheol (hell, the tomb) until Thy wrath be past." The "wrath" here mentioned is elsewhere called the "curse." Back in Eden, when our first parents were perfect, by disobedience they incurred upon themselves the divine sentence or "curse" or "wrath"—the death sentence, which includes all the mental, moral and physical degeneracy known to our race, and which has been afflicting us as a whole for now 6,000 years. Job was looking beyond the period of the permission of this "curse" or "wrath" to a time future, when this "curse" would be removed, and instead of it a "blessing" would come to every member of the race, himself included. As a prophet he recorded his hope of a coming Redeemer: "I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand in the latter day upon the earth." Through this Redeemer's work he realized that the "curse" would be abolished, and his prayer to be hid in sheol, the grave, the tomb, was merely until the "curse," the "wrath" would be over, and until the great resting time, the millennial reign, should begin. His prayer continuing shows his hope of a resurrection. "Thou Thou wouldst appoint me a set time and remember me." Then, particularly referring to the resurrection, he says, "Thou shalt call and I will answer Thee, for Thou will have regard unto the work of Thy hands."—Job 14:15.

"Out of the Belly of Hell, Cried I."

This blood-curdling statement is found in Jonah 2:2, but it becomes very simple and plain when we learn from the context that it was the prayer of the Prophet Jonah from the belly of the fish which had swallowed him alive. He cried out of the sheol-belly, the hell-belly, the tomb-belly, where he says the seaweeds were about his head. God heard his prayer and the fish vomited him forth on the dry land. In this he was a type of our Lord, "raised from the dead on the third day."

We remember also the Prophet David's prayer for deliverance from death. He said, "O, save me for Thy mercies' sake. For in death there is no remembrance of Thee; in sheol (hell, the tomb) who shall give Thee thanks?" (Psa. 6:5). We remember the good King Hezekiah also, whose life was spared fifteen years in answer to prayer. In thanking the Lord for this he said, "Death cannot celebrate Thee; sheol (the tomb) cannot praise Thee."—Isa. 38:18.

Quote the Entire Proverb.

One of Solomon's inspired proverbs much quoted is, "Do with thy might what thy hand findest to do," but very scarcely do we ever hear the remainder of the quotation, namely because "there is neither wisdom, nor knowledge nor device in sheol (the grave, whither thou goest." (Eccl. 9:10). How reasonable is this statement, rightly understood—there is no wisdom nor knowledge nor work in the hell to which the good and the bad, all mankind, have been going for the past 6,000 years. The dead are really dead, extinct, except as God has provided for them a resurrection from the dead, a reawakening to sentient being. The very moment of their awakening will seem to each to be the next moment to the one in which he died because there is no wisdom nor knowledge in the tomb, in sheol, in hell. How wonderful the goodness and mercy of God will appear to the great mass of our race when they are awakened from the sleep of death and learn for the first time of the goodness of God, that instead of having provided devils and torture, he has provided through his Son an opening of the prison doors of the tomb and a setting at liberty of the captives of death, providing also for their future uplift out of sin and degradation under the favorable conditions of the millennial kingdom of God's dear Son.

One Went to Hell and Returned.

We now call your attention to the fact that the word sheol in the Old Testament, which we have shown merely means the tomb, the death state, is the exact equivalent of the word hades in the New Testament Greek, which likewise means the tomb, the state of death. For instance, in Psalm 16:10 we read, "Thou wilt not leave my soul in sheol" (hell, the tomb), and we find St. Peter quoting this on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:27-31), "Thou wilt not leave my soul in hades" hell, the grave. St. Peter proceeds to explain that David spoke this not respecting his own soul but the soul of Jesus, and thus foretold our Lord's resurrection from the dead on the third day. How simple, how plain the entire matter is from this, the Scriptural standpoint. Our Lord's resurrection from hell (sheol, hades) is the guarantee or "assurance" that all of Adam's race shall be released from sheol, hades—the tomb—Acts 17:31.

Take another illustration: The Prophet Hosea declares, "I will ransom them from the power of sheol (the grave, hell), I will redeem them from death. O death where is thy sting? O sheol (grave, hell), I will be thy destruction." The Apostle Paul quotes this passage in his great discourse on the resurrection, saying, "O, death, where is thy sting? O, hades (grave), where is thy victory?" (I Cor. 15:55). What could be simpler, plainer? All that we need is to get the smoke of the dark ages out of the eyes of our understanding, and to allow the true light from the inspired Word of God to speak to us plainly and be its own interpreter.

Sheol, Hades, the Great Prison.

Our topic inquires who are in hell. The Scriptures answer that all go to hell, the tomb, the death state, as Solomon says: "There is no wisdom nor knowledge nor device in the grave (sheol), whither thou goest." In this vast prison-house it has been estimated that something like 20,000,000,000 of Adam's children are prisoners. But the very word prison implies that they are not extinct, that it is in the divine power and purpose to bring them forth, as Job expressed it, "Thou shalt call and I will answer thee." Our Lord Jesus was the first of these prisoners to come back from sheol, from hades, as the Apostle Peter and the Prophet David have just told us. He went to hell, to sheol, to hades, to the tomb, to the death state, and came back by a resurrection. As the apostle declares, "God raised Him from the dead by His own power." The apostle tells us that in the resurrection of Jesus we have God's assurance of his ability and willingness to deliver all from sheol, hades, the tomb—to raise all the dead through him.—Acts 17:31.

This figure of death as a prison-house, holding captive until the glorious morning of the resurrection the whole world of mankind, is frequently set forth in the Bible. There the dead are spoken of as "prisoners of hope." In his last message to the church our Lord declares, "I am He that was dead, and, behold, I am alive forevermore, and have the keys of death and hades"—the grave, hell, the tomb.—Zech. 9:12; Rev. 1:18.

How glad we are to know that the keys of the great prison are in the hands of one who so loved the world as to give His life as ransom for theirs, "that God might be just and yet the justifier of those who believe in Jesus." How we who now believe do rejoice exceedingly in this great Savior, able to save unto the uttermost. How glad we are to know that, although the number of believers now is small, the day is coming when all shall know of the Redeemer and the provisions and conditions of the eternal salvation. As it is written, "The knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth as the waters cover the great deep," then, as the prophet declares, "None shall need say to his neighbor or brother, Know thou the Lord, because all shall know him from the least to the greatest."—Isa. 11:9; Jer. 31:34.

Jesus Holds Key of Hell.

The keys of death and the grave—which the Lord holds, and is ready to use, merely waiting the Father's due time—symbolizes his rightful authority to control the dead and the dying. If the Lord had said, "I have a crowbar or a sledge-hammer," it would have signified his violent opposition to the dying and death conditions, and that he would rescue the people by force; but the choice of a key as a symbol represents right and authority, and the Scriptures everywhere coincide with this thought, declaring that it was God Himself who condemned our race to death and that our Lord Jesus in no sense of the word designs to oppose the Father's power and authority. The Bible declares that our Lord redeemed us by paying our penalty for us, and thus "bought us with His own precious blood," and that thus justly he has the authority to do with the race of mankind as He will. And, thank God, He wills their blessing and uplifting in accordance with the Father's promise to Abraham, "In thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed."

Opening the Prison Doors.

It was to this great prison that our Lord referred in His sermon on Isaiah 61 and His application to Himself of the prophecy that He would open the prison doors and set at liberty the captives. Our Lord made no effort to rescue prisoners from the literal prisons of Palestine or other parts of the world at His first advent—He had a higher and grander mission. He even allowed John the Baptist to be beheaded in prison without so much as uttering a word of protest or giving one particle of assistance for his liberty. Our Lord was in the process of redeeming the world, purchasing all the prisoners and the prison-house with a view to eventually set all free during the millennial age by a resurrection from the dead.

Did time permit, we would like to point out how the testimony of the Scriptures respecting the resurrection of the dead is in full accordance with the setting the captives free. We would like to show that the life resurrection will be an instantaneous one to perfection, embracing only those who during the present life have made their peace with God through faith and have demonstrated their loyalty to Him, and whose trial therefore is ended and their full reward to be granted them in the moment of their resurrection. We would like to show how the remainder of the world will be awakened from the state of death during the millennial age, in practically the condition in which they died, but surrounded by the new conditions of the millennial kingdom—Satan and every evil influence bound, restrained, and Truth and Righteousness and every good influence surrounding them, and with the church of this Gospel age, the Bride of Christ, the Royal Priesthood, their assistants, governors, guides, to help the willing and obedient up, up, out of sin and degradation and death conditions, back to the full perfection of perfect humanity, the image and likeness of God—back to all that was lost in Adam and Eden, with added blessings of increased knowledge through experience.

This Is Not Universalism.

Although the Bible teaches that all go to sheol, hades, hell, and that all are to return from it, we find nothing in the Scriptures implying that all are finally to attain to eternal life, but, quite to the contrary, a provision of Second Death for all who will refuse the divine favors and blessings and privileges that through Christ shall ultimately come to every member of the race. We do claim that the Scriptures teach a universal opportunity through which every member of the race may come to a knowledge of "the only name" and to obedience to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. Thus, each if he will, may ultimately attain to everlasting life through the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. (John 1:29). We urge all who feel a deeper interest in the Word of God through this presentation of its teachings, and who consequently would feel a deeper reverence and love for the Almighty and for the Savior, that such shall not content themselves with what they have now heard, but shall avail themselves for the helps for Bible study which God is now granting to his people that they may come to "full assurance of faith," and to that full rest of heart which is the privilege of the "sanctified in Christ Jesus."

On next Sunday afternoon our topic will be, "The Resurrection of Life, and the Resurrection of Damnation."—John 5:29.
